

G.O.P. LEADERS "LOOKING BACKWARD" -- WILSON

President Attacks Republican Leaders at Salisbury, on Way to Charlotte, N. C.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 20.—President Wilson and his party arrived here at 10 o'clock this morning to attend the celebration of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence. The president first reviewed a procession and later made an open air speech. Thousands from all over the state packed the streets and gave the president a great demonstration. At the reviewing stand he was welcomed by Governors Clegg of North Carolina and Manning of South Carolina and their staffs.

The procession, headed by the North Carolina National Guard, 2500 strong, took an hour to file by the point where the president stood. It was made up of the militia, industrial floats and exhibits. Veterans of the Civil war, fraternal orders and numerous other groups representing phases of southern life.

PHIL. WILSON, RAPS G.O.P.

SALISBURY, N. C., May 20.—President Wilson, addressing a large crowd at the railroad station here today as he passed through on his way to Charlotte attacked leaders of the republican party as men who are "looking backward." Members of the president's party declared he referred to the fight

GERMANS AGAIN RAID THE EAST COAST OF ENGLAND

Seaplanes Drop Bombs on Isle of Thanet and Southeastern Kent—Air Attacks on Dunkirk and Bergues—Germans on Offensive Along Yser Canal—Attempt to Break British Front for Drive on Calais

There have been numerous raids by German aircraft. Three seaplanes raided the British east coast but according to the British announcement they caused but a few casualties and the raiders lost one of their machines which was brought down off the Belgian coast. An aeroplane attack on Dunkirk and Bergues resulted in the killing of six persons and the wounding of 38 others.

For Drive on Calais

The sector picked for the attack is one that would naturally be chosen by the Germans for an effort to break the British front and drive on toward Calais. Some of the fiercest fighting of the war has taken place along the Yser during previous German attempts to advance toward the English channel.

Activity All Along Western Front

Activity also has been displayed by the Germans in other sectors of the western front, notably in a gas attack in the Champagne region which is also declared to have been fruitless.

GERMAN AEROPLANES DROPPED 37 BOMBS IN RAID ON ENGLISH EAST COAST

LONDON, May 20, 2.05 p. m.—Three German seaplanes made a raid on the English east coast last night, a British official announcement this afternoon states. One of the aircraft was brought down off the Belgian coast. The seaplanes dropped 37 bombs, killing one soldier and wounding two civilians.

The statement says: "A hostile air raid was carried out on the east coast of Kent last night by at least three seaplanes. The raiders made the English coast at a few minutes past 2 o'clock this morning. One seaplane then turned north and dropped a dozen explosive bombs over the Isle of Thanet. Some windows were broken. Otherwise there were no casualties and no other damage.

"Two other seaplanes turned south and dropped 25 explosive bombs over southeastern Kent. In one town a few bombs took effect. One soldier was killed, one woman and one seaman were injured, one public house was wrecked and several houses were damaged.

"The remaining bombs caused no casualties or damage.

"The raiders all made off as soon as their bombs were discharged. One of the raiding seaplanes was brought down by a naval patrol off the Belgian coast this morning."

ENGINEER RICE FINDS LEAK IN SAND FILTERS

Bad Joints in Collecting Pipe the Cause of Trouble—Board of Health Orders House Vacated

Engineer Clifton Rice, the young man who looked after the city's interests in the construction of the filtration plant and who has remained in the city's employ, went through the collecting pipe in the sand filters yesterday decided to crawl through the pipe, but he succeeded and was very modest about it, too. He took a good light along and said he didn't experience any difficulty except that the air and temperature were not exactly to his liking.

Engineer Rice went to Boston today with Commissioner Newell F. Putnam and Supt. Thomas for a conference with Mr. Barbour, the consulting engineer, in connection with the construction of the filtration plant, and Mr. Rice, the contractor. The responsibility of both the contractor and consulting engineer does not expire until June and while the big leak furnishes sufficient cause for worry, it is well for the city that it happened before June 1. Had it happened after that date the city would have had to stand the expense.

The means of getting at the trouble will be discussed and arrived at this afternoon and the work in connection with it will be started Monday. There is no telling what the expense will be, but it means the undoing of the several tons of sand and the digging up of the concrete and the relaying of the pipe, the expense will be considerable. The collecting pipe is underneath the concrete in the bottom of the filters and runs the full length of the filters.

There are six sand filters with a total area of one acre, and a filtered water reservoir of 1,000,000 gallons capacity. The six concrete filters have a total area of two-fifths of an acre; a settling basin, divided into two units, with a total capacity of 500,000 gallons. The concrete filters have been in use for several months and are said to give good satisfaction. All of the city water is being coke filtered at the present time. The sand filters were being tested when the leak was discovered. The sand filters were not in constant operation, and the leak was discovered before it was known if the filters would suit the purpose for which they were intended. The sand filters

SHIPPING BILL PASSED SENTENCE ON LYNCH

ADMINISTRATION MEASURE HAS PASSED THE HOUSE BY VOTE OF 211 TO 161

WASHINGTON, May 20.—The administration's shipping bill designed to up-build the merchant marine and strengthen the navy passed the house today by a vote of 211 and 161, virtually in the form it was introduced.

Nine republicans and three progressives voted for the bill. Two democrats, Olney of Massachusetts, and Slayden of Texas voted against it.

The bill proposes to appropriate $50,000,000 to be raised by Panama bonds, for the purchase, charter or lease of ships by the government. These ships would be sold or leased to private capital as rapidly as possible, with the government reserving the right to call them into service as naval auxiliaries. The operation of such vessels as the government was unable to lease or sell would not extend beyond five years after the close of the European war.

A shipping board of five members empowered to prevent race discrimination and unfair practices by all ships plying American waters and fix maximum rates, would be created. The bill now goes to the senate.

Republicans who yesterday delayed the vote by offering more than a hundred amendments made no further attempt to amend the measure.

SAVED CHILD'S LIFE

Brave Act of Edgar Ally in Rescuing 3-Year-Old Child from Drowning

Edgar Ally, an engineer employed at the W. J. Barry Shoe Co. in Stackpole street, performed a heroic deed late yesterday afternoon when he rescued a 3-year-old daughter of A. S. Torembo of 37 Stackpole street from drowning in the Concord river, near the point where the stream joins the Merrimack.

It is believed the little girl in company with other children was playing on the river bank and that the child lost her balance and fell into the water. Employees of the power plant of the Massachusetts mills were attracted by a sister of the drowning girl calling for help from the opposite side of the river. The men in the power plant were powerless to offer assistance but they succeeded in signalling employees of the shoe company.

Ally rushed out of the fireproof of the shoe plant and plunging into the river succeeded in getting hold of the little girl just as she was about to go down for the last time. Walter Quinn and Walter Berard, other employees of the Barry company, assisted in rendering first aid to the child.

Last evening as a token of appreciation for his act, Mr. Ally received a substantial sum of money from A. S. Torembo, father of the rescued child.

Much enthusiasm was shown over the election of Dr. Matt S. Hughes and Franklin Hamilton as bishops, both of whom have had pastoral experience in New England.

Dr. Hughes held a pastorate for five years in Portland, Me.

Dr. William F. Ogburn of New York and Dr. Charles B. Mitchell of Chicago were elected bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church on the 15th ballot.

N. Y. MILITIA AT CAMP

1000 Members Participate in Military, Naval and Aviation Tournament, First in U. S.

NEW YORK, May 20.—More than a thousand members of the New York Guard went into camp today at the Sheepshead Bay speedway in preparation for the opening of the annual tournament for the military, naval and aviation tournament, said to be the first of its kind to be held in this country.

The tournament will continue for a week and the profits derived from it will be applied by a committee appointed by the governor and mayor to promote the cause of national defense.

President Wilson was asked to open the tournament by giving an electric signal from Washington.

The program for today included the use of army and navy dogs in tracking and repelling an attack by highway men, a border trail and surprise attack, the establishment of a base for cavalry, artillery and infantry, wall scaling and tent pitching contests and races.

Aviators participating in a cross-country rally are expected to arrive at the speedway this afternoon from distant cities in a competition for prizes for time and distance. Among them are Stevenson, McGordon and Victor Carlstrom in a flight from Newport News and Frank Burleson, flying from Rhode Island.

On Sunday the National Guard forces at the speedway will be augmented by several thousand men who will take part in repelling an imaginary invasion by a foreign army. This is intended as a mobilization experiment to determine how quickly the National Guard could be assembled.

Private owners of automobiles were asked to loan 2000 cars for this purpose, but only 200 responded.

On "Child Welfare." Hundreds of people visited the exhibit yesterday and a great increase of interest was marked in Middlesex hall where the Y.M.C.A. and the Boy Scouts are located and where a stereopticon lecture was given by Dr. Marshall L. Ailing on "How to Keep Well."

This evening at 8 o'clock Dr. F. R. Mahoney will lecture on "Health on the Farm" and at the same hour in the Chaffoux building Dr. Francis Flinnigan will lecture on "Control of Tuberculosis."

The health exhibit has been a great success, and the persons responsible for it are much pleased with the result. The various parts of the exhibit have given valuable help to families and arrangements are already under way to have it come again next year.

Dr. Tighe's Lecture. The lecture by Dr. M. A. Tighe yesterday afternoon at the exhibit location on the fourth floor of the Chaffoux building was very interesting and practical as well. His subject was "Cancer and the Wear and Tear of the Body."

Dr. Tighe said that one of the most apt illustrations of the body's relative wear and tear is the teeth. Many persons, he said, annually, or semi-annually, visit a dentist and have their teeth carefully looked over with the idea of detecting any signs of decay, and of stopping the progress of such decay. However, very few persons ever go to a doctor until they have suffered for some time from something which they know little or nothing about. If they would visit the physician for an examination as they do the dentist much serious sickness might be averted.

He applied this particularly to cancer, and said that while there had been very material reduction in the number of cancer cases, there might easily be a greater one if people could consult physicians in time. Cancer, in its earlier stages, is curable, but, if allowed to grow, it is not.

Moderation is an excellent thing, said the speaker. There are exponents of violent exercise, and then there are those who believe in the taking of only a little exercise. Each one of these is wrong. The proper course is to follow the moderate manner.

One of the diseases of adult life which is frequently met with is hardening of the arteries. This comes from overwork. Many men suffer from this because they do not allow themselves sufficient relaxation. The man who reads his newspaper in the car or over the breakfast table at home is doing what he should not do. He is working mentally, at least, at times when his mind should relax. While many more men than women suffer from hardening of the arteries, more women than men suffer from cancer.

Dr. Tighe laid stress upon the value of fresh air in sleeping rooms, and of the proper mastication of food. He also said that cleaning the teeth is a very necessary thing. If one pursues this at a regular time daily a brush and warm water will suffice, but if it is done but infrequently then some paste is necessary to remove all dirt.

After the lecture one of the nurses present showed how to wash a child while in bed, and there was a very interesting demonstration of milk sterilization.

MEMBERSHIP MEETING. FRIENDS OF IRISH FREEDOM WILL ENROLL NEW MEMBERS IN HIBERNIAN HALL SUNDAY EVE.

A very important organization meeting of the Friends of Irish Freedom will be held in Hibernian hall, Sunday evening at 7.30 p. m. for the purpose of enrolling new members. Among other things an energetic committee of women will be selected to aid the existing committee, and it is expected that several hundred members will be enrolled before the next meeting.

The growth of the new body has been phenomenal, as shown by the one or two meetings in all of the leading cities of the country. The officers will address the meeting tomorrow evening on important and timely topics and there will be an informal concert program. Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, A.O.H., and other Irish societies have been invited by the committee.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KETTS'S THEATRE. "The Coward," the gripping Triangle Kay-Bee picture in six parts, is compelling interest at the B. F. Kett's theatre, and will continue to draw the theatre several times today, for on Saturdays it is to be the policy of the theatre to run continuously from early afternoon until late at night. Frank Keenan, one of the most notable of character actors, is seen in the role of a Virginia colonel who is willing to die for the South, and Charles Ray, one of the younger stars, does especially good work as the son of the colonel. Ray plays the part of the coward with wonderful fidelity to the physical and mental characteristics of such a part. "Crooked to the End," with Fred Mac and a handsome leading man on the stage, and Beverly Bayne, who also has many points of beauty, will be seen in a five-part drama called "Man and His Brother." These who are at all familiar with the work of these two stars will want to see this picture, for it has a grip that is undeniable. Six other pictures, running from tragedy to comedy, will make the rest of the bill.

Tilly Marshall, who appeared here in "The City," "Five Feathers" and "The Only Girl" will be present at the theatre in the pictures—the first half of next week is to be "The City," a new Triangle production. Marshall is only recently a recruit to the motion picture field, although his work as "Soy," the half-breed Chinese, is quite remarkable. Marshall has been associated with such noted players as Mrs. Modjeska, Fanny Davenport, E. H. Sothern and Arville. Marshall will be the cast of "The Babe Louche" will be Thos. Jefferson, son of the noted Joe Jefferson, and who played the role of "Mutt and Jeff" in the "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon. When Joseph Jefferson became too ill to act the title part of "Babe Louche" it was Thomas Marshall who was selected to play for him, and he took to himself, as a result, a great deal of praise for artistic work. Also for the first half of the week will be "The City," a new Triangle production, starring Marshall, and "The Babe Louche," a new Triangle production, starring Marshall.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE. To deliberately become a thief rather than let the man who befriended him go to the penitentiary, is the central plot of the five-act feature, "The Ragamuffin," starring Blanche Sweet at the Merrimack Square theatre during these last three days of this week. "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon, fresh from the studio of Bud Fisher, and a new Triangle-Keystone comedy, called "Fiddle Fatsy," starring Boscon and Mabel Normand will appear. It is in two parts, and is exceedingly funny. For the latter half of the week, the Merrimack Square theatre will feature "The Babe Louche," a new Triangle production, starring Marshall, and "The Babe Louche," a new Triangle production, starring Marshall.

OWI THEATRE. "Fruits of Desire," a wonderful five-part photoplay featuring the famous matinee idol, Robert Z. Leonard, will be the attraction at the OwI theatre today. Showing that happiness does not always go hand in hand with riches, the story shows a man who is rich, is bound to please. Other excellent attractions will also be presented at the OwI today.

THE SPELLBINDER

That recall movement against Mayor O'Donnell which was sprung in Association hall a few evenings ago at a meeting called for another and far more worthy purpose didn't get any further than the meeting itself, and in all probability will soon be forgotten. Recall movements as a general rule, concern the voting population exclusively, but in this case, according to report, a considerable number of those who so vociferously endorsed the condemnatory resolutions were not voters of Lowell, while some were not even citizens of America.

It would require a decidedly long stretch of imagination to interpret Mayor O'Donnell's remarks, as apparently one speaker did, when he said that the mayor at the Irish meeting had said that the English people were "no good." His Honor referred to the governmental relations between England and Ireland exclusively, and at no time referred to the English as a people.

Civil Service for Laborers. The following incident illustrates how the civil service law works as applied to laborers: A citizen of Lowell, of middle age, and who formerly was employed on the water department; a good capable workman, applied to Commissioner Morse a few days ago for work in the street department. "Have you worked for the city for six months since the civil service law went into effect?" asked the commissioner.

"No, I haven't worked for the city for four years," replied the applicant. "Then I can't put you to work, though I'd like to."

"Suppose I come to city hall Saturday and get my name on the list. Can you place me then?" asked the applicant.

"If your name isn't on the list yet, you won't have a burglar's chance," said Commissioner Morse, and then he explained as follows: "If you get your name on the list Saturday your number will be something over 1000, for there are already that number of names of the civil service list for laborers. When I want help I make requisition for a certain number of men and the civil service commission sends me just double the number I want, from which to make a selection. Thus, you see, in order to reach you I would have to put on over 500 men, which of course, I am not going to do."

Discussing the civil service law further, Commissioner Morse said: "My experience with the civil service law is that it is no good for the city. The man who comes first gets his name on the list regardless of his age or ability and Civil War veterans get the preference. If I send in a requisition for ten laborers for the ledge or for sewer work, I get back a list of 20 names. Out of that 20 there may not be three who are fit for the work."

New Street Car Rule. It's a poor day when no one has any fault to find with the local street railway system or methods. Yesterday a rotund gentleman who for some time past has made a practice of entering the car by the front vestibule, a friendly-disposed motorman opening the door to make him his daily entrance that way, he found the door barred against him, while the motorman nodded to him to enter by the rear door. Upon seeking an explanation of this unusual conduct on the part of the motorman he was informed that a new rule had been posted forbidding passengers to enter or leave the cars by the front vestibule except in Merrimack square, or at the end of a line. "How is a passenger going to keep track of all these new rules," demanded the irate gentleman, "unless the company spends a few cents in advertising, to notify the public of them. Perhaps if they would only take the newspapers into consideration regarding their rules, in consideration of the fact that they are too poor to buy advertising, the public-spirited newspapers might give it to them gratis. But they stick up a sign somewhere behind closed doors in Paige street, and expect the public of Lowell to go down there and have a look at it." Having had his five cents worth of kicking the gentleman at this point subsided.

"We should like to give the once-over to that venturesome engineer who proposes to 'squirrel through' a long pipe that is only 18 inches in diameter, looking for leaks. He might turn into an obstruction instead."

It's the old story of "going out of town instead of patronizing home labor. Commissioner Putnam ought to insist that the contractor give the preference in the matter to Lowell citizens, especially with "Chicken" Brady and Little Tommy Gallagher both working at the filtration plant. When Engineer Rice has finished his investigation within the pipe, he will have to be pulled out, he's foreboding, and as the Courier-Citizen intimates, he might get stuck in there. But if the job were given to either Messrs. Brady or Gallagher they'd be able to "turn right around and come right out again," if anything within wasn't O. K. Seeing that the water department is short of funds and Commissioner Morse refuses to be "held up" with any exorbitant water bill, wouldn't it be a good idea to have Engineer Rice's pipe-crawling stunt as a sort of public exhibition and charge an admission, the receipts to help relieve the straitened condition of the strong box of the department?

FORD OUT FOR WILSON

Roosevelt Raps Auto Man at Detroit—Ford Will Make Another Attempt at Peace

DETROIT, May 20.—Theodore Roosevelt and Henry Ford didn't meet here yesterday, although the colonel had announced that he intended to call on Mr. Ford at his factory, and Mr. Ford had said that he intended to hear Roosevelt speak at one of his meetings here yesterday. So, while the colonel was entertaining and being entertained, the automobile man stuck to his office.

Roosevelt received a tremendous reception in Mr. Ford's home town, and he didn't neglect the opportunity to discuss the showing of the peace pilgrim in the presidential primaries of three states. The colonel made three red-hot preparedness speeches here yesterday.

But while the colonel was pouring hot shot into Mr. Ford's advocacy of peace, Ford himself was not silent. He said that the armament and munitions crowd were behind the Detroit demonstration. He announced his intention to sail for Stockholm within a fortnight to help in the neutral conference there and later at The Hague.

Mr. Ford announced himself as a strong admirer of President Wilson, and the impression has gone out that he will take an active part in the campaign for Wilson's re-election. This is interpreted to mean that the Wilson forces will have a sufficient war chest to conduct any kind of a campaign they desire.

"I am convinced that Wilson is on to this armament crowd," he said. "I thoroughly believe he knows more than he is telling. I think he has got them by the neck."

Calls Ford Copperhead

Colonel Roosevelt compared Ford to the copperheads of Civil War times, and coined the expression "neo-copperheads," to designate the anti-preparedness advocates.

He woke up Detroit with a repertoire of his hottest speeches against the peace-at-any-price forces. At the Detroit athletic club, at the Opera House and a review in the park, where 5000 stood in the rain and cheered him for an hour, he lambasted the "pussy-foots" and the pacifists. By a cologne, the big electric sign over the Opera House, advertising the moving picture within, read: "The Birth of a Nation."

Roosevelt sailed into Ford, after paying him a tribute as a manufacturing wizard and one meaning to do well by the working classes. He declared that Ford was no better at this time than were the Tories who opposed Washington in 1776, or the copperheads who obstructed Lincoln's work in the Civil war. He also issued a warning to the laboring people who admire Ford, telling them that Ford's policy might turn the country over to rulers who wouldn't be so concerned about the laboring classes.

He cited Belgium as an example. He said there were manufacturers in Belgium who had held the Ford theories prior to Aug. 4, 1914, and that now neither they nor their men had anything to say about who should work or how they should work and that there wasn't much work for anyone.

At the Athletic club he quoted the eighth and ninth commandments. "Thou shalt not steal," he said, "and thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." He said the newspapers carried a great burden at this time and a great responsibility to the nation. That responsibility was to enlighten the people on the dangers that lurk in the peace at any price promoters.

spring is pretty strong. But this year, Mr. Thomas won by several laps.

Reflection of Rublee

Next week bids fair to bring New England into the foreground in national as well as local matters. The senate on Tuesday will vote on the Hollis motion to reconsider the rejection of George Rublee of New Hampshire as member of the federal grade commission. On Wednesday the senate committee on judiciary will vote on the contested nomination of Louis B. Brandeis of Boston for justice of the supreme court. These presidential nominations have stirred up more bitter feeling than has been shown here for years, and the outcome of both pending votes is entirely uncertain.

On Tuesday the delegation from the Merrimack river valley cities interested in the appeal from the adverse decision on improvements of the Merrimack river will appear before the board of army engineers; in the afternoon for the same day a delegation from Portland, Me., will appear before that board protesting against the adverse decision regarding improvements on Portland harbor. The Massachusetts delegation and the Maine delegation in congress will take an active hand in the hearings, and large delegations are expected from each of the two states interested.

Another White House Wedding

There will be another wedding in the White house set—a near family affair, for Dr. Cary T. Grayson, the president's physician, and Miss Gordon, ward of Mrs. Wilson, are to marry next week. This leaves the president's daughter, Margaret, and his cousin, Miss Bones, the only unmarried members of the White House family, and will mark the fourth wedding in the family since the president took his office a trifle more than three years ago.

THEY RESCUED A ROBIN

BIRD WAS HANGING BY A LEG AT TOP OF A TALL TREE—MOTH CLIMBER SAVED IT

Officers of the humane society were called to the corner of South Whipple and Griffin streets yesterday at about noon to rescue a robin which was hanging by a leg from a string attached to the branches of a large elm tree. The bird was suspended in the air about 45 feet from the ground.

On account of the height of the tree, the officers were unable to make the ascent and they could obtain no ladders tall enough to reach the bird. Finally, however, a climber employed by the moth department was secured and he climbed the tree and rescued the robin which was afterwards set free. A large crowd of people witnessed the rescue.

DOINGS AT WASHINGTON

Spectacular Coast Guard Service and its Work—Rublee Fight—Another White House Wedding

Special to The Sun

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20.—When you talk about a motion picture thriller, the Coast Guard service of the United States has it beaten to a frazzle—to quote the colonel. Its summary of work done from Dec. 1 to March 31 on the New England coast alone would serve for the basis of a dozen scenarios. And yet the men in that service call the season a slow one for the storms were less intense and calls for aid fewer than usual.

Off shore and on the coast of New England during that period, the service saved the lives of 47 persons and assisted 225 others in imminent peril or distress, and some of those rescues were accomplished by great bravery and daring on the part of the coast guard such as we landlubbers little dream of—and if shown on a movie screen would be regarded as "exceeding for the occasion" rather than "outstanding from real life, so tremendous were the hazards taken."

Sixty-one vessels were assisted whose value, including cargo, was $256,095. The Coast Guard—now the life saving and revenue cutter services combined under that name—has a record for the saving of life and property unequalled by any other organization. Through snow, cold, ice, sleet, storm and darkness these men respond fearlessly to all calls for aid. In one year preceding their consolidation, the life-saving branch had aided in 1200 rescues of the consolidation, the revenue cutters aided 1511 vessels in distress, saved the lives of 553 persons from actual drowning and aided 2474 persons after rescuing them. They saved cargoes valued at $33,811.68 and that was but a part of their hazardous work.

President's Summer Home

While congress is deserted during the two political conventions it is the intention of the president to run down to Shadow Lawn, his newly selected summer home, and wait the result of the ballots. He has this week expressed the hope for a June adjournment, but no one else seems to regard one possible before August, at the earliest.

Senatorial Beau Brummels

Senator Thomas of Colorado has put one over on Senator Vardaman of Mississippi this year. It is nip and tuck between these two distinguished democrats who shall set the pace for summer. Senator Vardaman wears during the winter a suit of solemn black, including a long frock coat and typical big soft black hat. In summer he wears a white suit that is made especially conspicuous by his long black hair that falls in a slightly waving mass far below his collar. And they do say that Senator Vardaman sleeps with one eye open when springtime comes, for fear he won't be awake and ready to don that white suit with the first chirp of the robin. Senator Thomas is equally alert for the robin's first chirp, in order to shed his collar. In winter he appears to be a fine looking middle-aged man with a thick crop of iron grey hair, but the first day of real summer weather he shows up as a fine-looking middle-aged man as bald as a baby, with a highly polished, hair-reft cranial, glittering in the sunlight that falls through the sufficiency of windows of the senate chamber. For those grey locks belong to the toupee that the Colorado senator dons when autumn brings raw and chilly winds in its wake and which he puts away in moth balls when summer comes. And gossip says the rivalry between Mr. Vardaman and Mr. Thomas as to who is the real harbinger of

GEO. B. COX DEAD

Politician and Theatrical Magnate, Died at Cincinnati Today

CINCINNATI, O., May 20.—George B. Cox, politician and theatrical magnate, died at his home here early this morning. Mr. Cox was stricken with paralysis February 28, from which he never recovered, although death is said to have been from pneumonia which developed in the last few days.

The Sam Walter Foss Literary Club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. H. W. McDonald, 325 Wilder street. Mrs. Wheeler assisted Mrs. McDonald as hostess. The speaker of the afternoon was Dr. Winifred M. Devine, her subject being "Camp Fire Girls." The affair was most interesting and was made more vivid by the presence of several Camp Fire Girls in costume. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses. The next club meeting will be held with Mrs. John Emerson at her home in South Chelmsford.

A well attended dancing party was held last night at Edison hall, St. Anne's parish house, and the affair proved to be a success both from a financial and social standpoint. The proceeds of the social are for the benefit of the Kenwood mission. Music for dancing was furnished by Steele's orchestra of North Chelmsford. The affair was under the general direction of W. G. A very delightful Leap Year party and dance was held by the El Dorado Girls Friday evening, May 19th, in Highland hall. Shortly before intermission a march was formed, consisting of one hundred or more young folks. During intermission refreshments were served and an excellent concert was given by some of the members and their friends. The party broke up at a late hour, everyone agreeing that the affair had been most enjoyable. The officers of the social were as follows: Floor director, Mae Tobin; assistant floor director, Esther Connors; general manager, Gertrude Hall; assistant general manager, Lena Reardon; chief aid, Mary Mulligan.

CARTRIDGE CO. NOTES

PLAN ADOPTED FOR THE PROPER TRAINING OF BOYS FOR EFFICIENCY IN BUSINESS

Supt. Gerald Cahill of the U. S. Cartridge Co. has announced that although a change from three to two shifts is being put in force in the various plants of the company, this is being arranged so that no employee will lose his or her employment or time, as the change will be made gradually.

The young men employed on the third shift are said to have objected to the schedule presented them, as they did not wish the girls of the shift laid off. This has been taken as a manly stand by the officials of the company, who have assured the male portion of the help that the girls will not lose their employment as a result of the change.

Must Attend Classes

All boys entering the employ of the U. S. Cartridge Co. as messengers and office boys will be obliged to devote, as a part of their work, thirty minutes a day in which to review their schooling.

The course of lessons is being decided upon, and plans are being made whereby the boys will be furnished books without cost.

The promotion of the boys to clerical positions will depend, hereafter, upon efficiency in studies and upon their conduct and satisfactory service.

MERRIMACK RIVER HIGH

The water in the Merrimack river is running very high owing to the recent heavy rains and many of the low places along the river are covered with water but as yet there has been no damage and inasmuch as the water is receding all danger of any damage is apparently passed. At six o'clock yesterday morning, the water was running 75 feet over the Pawtucket dam but at noon today it had dropped down to six feet. The recent rise in the water was a trifle higher than that during the spring freshet.

BUSY BUILDING SEASON

Great Activity Throughout the City—All the Building Trades Rushing at All Points

Scores of new buildings are being erected in this city and suburbs and this means that few craftsmen in the building line are out of employment. It is generally conceded that Lowell will experience this year one of the biggest building booms seen in this part of the country for a long time.

One of the districts to undergo a very big change within the next few months is Middlesex street from Central street to the railroad station. It is expected that within two or three weeks work on the ten-story cement and steel manufacturing building near the corner of King street will be started, and the erection of this building, it is believed, will lead some of the property owners along the street to follow suit in tearing down old shacks and erecting in their stead modern office buildings.

Another step toward improving Middlesex street has been taken by the Crown Theatre Co., a recently organized corporation which has for president Samuel Orbach, one of the co-owners of the Owl theatre, who will build a modern theatre at 73 Middlesex street. The building will be five stories, 44 ft. wide by 37 ft. wide and will cost approximately $25,000. The building will be known as the Crown theatre and its auditorium will contain 500 seats, while 300 other seats will be placed in the gallery. The roof will be of pitch style and will be covered with asphalt and concrete. Part of the roof will be movable and its operation will be controlled by machinery. The site of the new building is opposite Webster street.

C. W. Johnson & Son are developing a large tract of land in East Chelmsford just across the city line in Gorham street and they are building thereon several cottages. About a half-dozen new houses have been built so far and plans call for probably twice as many.

Arthur Jeannotte is contemplating the idea of erecting a three-tenement house on his vacant land next to 205 White street. Each tenement will contain five rooms and it is expected that work will be started next month.

Avila Sawyer has converted a stable into a seven-room cottage at 203 White street. The finishing touch is now being put on and the new house which is equipped with a steam heating system and electric lights will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks.

A three-story building is being erected at the corner of School and Liberty streets for Mrs. Josephine McKenna. The steel floor will be occupied by a store, while the other floors will contain five-room tenements with pantry and bath. The building will be 27 feet by 59 feet and will cost about $4800.

Expensive alterations are being made at the coal elevator of Charles Lajoie in Gorham street. The trestles in the coal yard will be replaced, the new ones to be 350 feet in length. Other improvements will also be made and it is figured that the entire job will cost about $5,000.

Louis Poissant is having a two-tenement house built at 136-138 Dalton street. Each tenement will contain six rooms with pantry and bath and the building will cost about $3200.

A seven-room cottage is being constructed at 195 Hoyt avenue for the E. A. Smith heirs at a cost of about $2800.

Charles P. Witham has started the erection of several bungalows in Putnam avenue and Hoyt avenue. Each bungalow will contain eight rooms with pantry and bath and will cost about $2500.

The barn of Joseph Kew in the rear of 35 Washington street is being converted into a cottage and the cost of the change will be about $500.

The Lowell Realty Co. has started the erection of a cottage at 130-132 Bellevue street. The house will contain six rooms with pantry and bath and will cost about $1800.

The cottage owned by Edward Fairburn and located at 547 Fletcher street is being transformed into a two-tenement house. The piazza will be roofed over for the purpose of a pantry and bath and the cost of the change will be about $300.

Work on the changing over of the stable of Francis Allard at 87 Sixth avenue into a six-room cottage has been started and the cost of the change will be about $1700.

George C. and William Dempsey, who have leased the property numbered 372 Gorham street, are making considerable alterations to the building. The improvements will cost about $500.

The P. Dempsey Co., who have leased the property numbered 462 Middlesex street, have started making considerable improvements on the building, the alterations to cost about $650.

Manuel Martin Carrira is changing over a one and one-half story building into a two-story building at 55 Elm street, through the raising of the roof of an ell and the building of an addition 10 by 15 feet. The estimated cost of the work is $100.

ing in Middlesex street have been sold to Esrael Greenberg, who will start on the demolishing and the removal of the debris at once.

Numerous minor repairs and changes are being made throughout the city, and this also helps to keep the craftsmen busy.

Work on the two-tenement house of Joseph H. Miller at the corner of High and Sherman streets, is progressing. The house will cost about $3500, and each tenement will have five rooms with pantry and bath. The cellar is now finished.

Alice L. McCann is having a two-tenement dwelling erected at 161-163 High street. Each tenement will have five rooms with pantry and bath and the building will cost approximately $3700.

Social and Fraternal

The members of Admiral Farragut camp, Sons of Veterans, met last night in Post 153, G.A.R. hall, Commander L. F. Munroe presiding. There was a large attendance and eight applications for membership were received and favorably passed upon. P. C. L. Derby, chairman of the Memorial day committee of the camp and marshal of the morning parade, read the order for that occasion and it was accepted.

Commander Munroe read the orders for the escort to Post 153, May 28, to attend services at the Calvary Baptist church at 10.30 a. m. At 1.30 p. m. the camp will meet at Post 153 hall to escort the post to the First Congregational church where the general exercises will be held.

A unanimous vote of thanks was extended to Brother Benjamin F. Parshley for a gift of a mystery box. Great interest is being taken in the observance of Memorial day and a large turnout of the members is expected.

Commander Munroe appointed the following members as a committee for the banquet: P. C. S. A. Pickering, James E. Webster, P. C. Wilson S. Hall, P. C. Walter E. Alwood, Charles Foster, Jr., P. C. Henry J. Draper and P. C. Albert C. Blaisdell.

Division 1, A.O.H.

A well attended meeting of Division 1, A.O.H., was held Thursday night in Hibernian hall. Several reports were read and accepted. One new member was initiated and two propositions were received. The quarterly report of Treasurer Shedy showed that the financial condition of the division is very good. The call for the state convention from the state secretary was read and at the next meeting two delegates to attend the convention will be named. James Lyons, one of the oldest Hibernians in this city, told interesting stories of the past which were listened to with the utmost attention by the members. Remarks on the good and welfare were made by Brothers Riordan, Brick, Shedy,

Casey and Sheehan. The meeting adjourned to meet on Sunday, May 28, at 10.30 a. m.

PRESIDENT SIGNS ROGERS' BILL

WASHINGTON, May 20.—President Wilson yesterday signed the measure introduced by Representative John Jacob Rogers and passed "without" trouble by both branches of congress, to permit the deposit of the assets of insolvent national banks in banks of their home cities or in such vicinity instead of being deposited in the treasury without interest.

KAISER THANKED POPE

LONDON, May 20.—A Reuter despatch from Amsterdam quotes the Berlin Norddeutsche Zeitung as asserting that the statement of Sir Edward Grey in the house of commons that the vatican had endeavored to induce Germany to abandon her submarine warfare was not in conformity with the facts. The Norddeutsche Zeitung says:

"We learn from a trustworthy source that the pope intimated to Germany and the United States his willingness to mediate in the dispute between them. The emperor thanked the pope for his good intentions and referred to the reply which Germany had already made America."

DANISH STEAMER STRANDED

LEWES, Del. May 20.—The Smith Island, Va., coast guard station today reported that the Danish steamer Berlin, New York for Baltimore, stranded one and a half miles north of Smith Island, near Cape Charles, at 1 a. m.

SILLY COLLEGE ANTICS

It may be true that our comic papers do not come up to the standards of those published abroad, but, then we have the American college. It would be a tragic error to look upon our higher institutions of learning as comic institutions, but who can deny that they supply an original brand of comedy when the season is slack elsewhere?

Two instances that have come to light recently will serve to point the moral, if they do not add a tale: A zealous follower of Henry Ford among the students of Dartmouth came out in the college publication "Jack-o-Lantern" in rather caustic criticism of one of the faculty because of his preparedness views. The faculty promptly suspended the offending student, in spite of a mainly apologetic. Some commentators think the action was justified in order that the immemorial dignity of college professors might be maintained, but most think the resentment of the authorities more foolish than the article that aroused it.

Still more humorous is an incident that brings Yale into the news. An elaborate production of the German opera "Die Walkure," has been planned to take place in the Yale hotel, with Madame Gaski in one of the leading roles. Walter E. Carter or "Dutch" Carter, formerly Yale pitcher, suddenly developed a patriotic brain storm and, remembering that Gaski's husband has been indicted as an alleged German spy, he sent the following protest to the Yale Daily News:

"I understand that Mme. Gaski is going to sing a German opera in the bowl. Her husband is under indictment as a German spy, and as a Yale man and especially as an American I want to protest against her engagement to sing at a Yale function.

"Yale is a national institution, but the recent utterances of Secretary Stokes and Professor Phelps and the engagement of Mme. Gaski made me sore.

"I don't suppose you will publish this because it is too direct, but I hope you will."

Yale, true to its reputation for sanity and common-sense did not heed the protest and the agitation is proving excellent advertising for Madame Gaski, who, true to her type, rather likes to be talked about. One of the undergraduates who has kept his sense of humor in spite of university routine has sent the following satirical protest to the Yale News:

"Sir—I understand that Hook McGloob has been engaged to sup in a German opera in the bowl. I have it on accurate information that McGloob's wife is under indictment for stealing three pairs of coolie running pants from Yale in China while serving as a laundress. As a Yale man and especially as an American I want to protest against Hook's engagement to sup in a Yale function.

Yale in China is of immense importance to the modern China, but the recent utterances of Klig, Fish and Leo, with "I'm buyin' 'em" (a statement lacking in the fundamentals of English grammar and insultingly insinuating to the person addressed) together with the engagement of Hook make me sore.

"I don't suppose you will publish this because it is too direct, but I hope you will."

Yours till the panties come home.

On Li Whun Lung.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Carter will read this burlesque comment and that he will then decide to see the great dramatic production which will not interfere in the slightest with his self-respect as an American.

The public looks to the greater colleges and universities for a sensible discussion of world events, and misguided zeal in any cause seems out of place there. Our schools have drawn and will continue to draw from all the races for their supply of students, and they should be broad enough to accept the best from any country while keeping absolutely American to the core. In spite of the action of the unbalanced few, we feel sure that the great majority of Dartmouth or Yale students could in one week hear Henry Ford, William Jennings Bryan, Theodore Roosevelt, John Masfield, Lord Northcliffe, Madame Gaski and Professor Munsterberg, and be all the better for it. Drawing the racial line in this country is a dangerous game, and the colleges should not forget it.

THE HIDDEN MEANING

Asserting that "some manufacturers have made a very good profit even with the present high price of disbursements," one of the leading textile papers adds: "It is hardly fair to other manufacturers to keep prices at low points, although there is nothing which can be done unless each individual manufacturer is willing to base his quotations upon the market prices for raw materials."

This advice seems innocent enough until analyzed, and then the possibilities look sinister indeed, from the point of view of the public. Already most cotton and woolen products have soared in price, some of them to an extraordinary extent, but evidently some manufacturers would like to boost prices a little more. They fear that the excuse of the high price of raw materials has not been made the most of, and while some among them refuse to be led, prices will have to keep to a reasonable figure. The public cannot expect that manufactured articles will remain stationary when raw materials soar in price, but there is something about the above which does not ring true.

On the other hand there are some textile manufacturers who may have had a large supply of essentials in stock when the war broke out, and these are consequently able to sell at a lower figure than the majority. It is not likely that any of them will sell so low as to constitute a menace to the trade, but they should be content with a reasonable profit, and should not, as other industries have done, make the most of a public necessity. When the war is over we may discover that the Chicago packers and the wheat owners were not the only groups that saw in war's disorganization a chance to make the public dance to any tune they cared to play.

When people score the government for anti-trust and similar activities, it is well to remember what would happen if all manufacturers were swayed by a combination in which all should do just as those at the head dictate. Not the least of war's horrors is the greed which crops out among men who adore the dollar over all.

HIS MAJESTY THE BABY

This is meant to appeal to all who have or have had babies; to all who hope to have babies; to all who love babies. Is there anybody left out?

No feature of the health exhibit which has done such a great educational work in this city for the past few days was emphasized more than care of the child, and fittingly so, for care of the child is among the fundamental needs of society. Two of the watchwords of the age are efficiency and conservation, and unless applied to the very root of society, all other movements will ultimately fail. The state has nothing of more importance than its citizens, and the babies of today will be the citizens of tomorrow. Hence the interest which all social service, human welfare, and humanitarian movements are taking in the proper care and conservation of child life.

Each child born into the world has a right to life and happiness and it can have neither unless it has health. Yet in all of our large cities how many children are permitted to grow up without a proper regard for cleanliness, comfort, or sanitation?

Until they are able to make their wants known, babies should be watched as one would watch some marvelously delicate mechanism that is liable to fail at any time for lack of proper treatment. The most important considerations are absolute cleanliness, pure air, appropriate food and sleep. Hours of play and hours of sleep should be regular, and time of feeding and baths no less so. Eyes, ears, nose and mouth should be kept clean by constant attention, and fresh air is as important as nourishing food.

The milk guild in this city is doing a splendid work through its district nurses and dispensary consultations to educate mothers in the modifying of milk and other things necessary for the care of children. Similar things are being done in most cities and it is hoped that within the next five years infant mortality will be reduced one-half throughout the United States.

COMBINATION FOR TRADE

When one thinks or speaks of German foreign trade or English foreign trade, does it suggest a number of rival German or English concerns competing with each other? No. Rather does it give the impression of a national trade in which all concerned keep the interest of their country to the forefront.

When one speaks of American foreign trade, it is entirely different. We have not yet got our extension of commerce down to such a science that we sink lesser considerations and act all together with a single purpose in mind. Until we learn to do away with abnormal rivalry and trust domination, we shall not have the success in foreign trade that is within our grasp.

A recent report of the federal trade commission which was appointed to co-operate with American business points out that American manufacturers must co-operate in exporting if they would successfully meet foreign manufacturers in foreign markets after the war. It is highly possible that commission houses may be established in connection with our exports, and that all who manufacture goods for outside markets will act as a unit for the expansion of American commerce. Healthy rivalry is essential, but the ideals of the nation must come first if a democracy is to meet a supreme state or monarchy on equal ground.

LIVING WITH BEAUTY

It was Walt Whitman who saw so much beauty and mystery in leaves of grass that they contained for him all the secrets of time and eternity. He and others of his persuasion learned to look deep into nature and to marvel at the wonders that no man has ever understood. Yet, how callously most of us pass through life, and how little do we care for the marvels displayed on all sides. Just now the skies are filled with the soft blues of spring and the filmy clouds trail by in silver argosies. Violets and tender anemones are abloom in the woods. Trees are garbed in soft green veiling, and over head and under foot beauty has written her name. And it is not only the eye that is gratified; spring life is vocal and the notes of many birds ring out from shady places. It is no time for musing in art galleries where dusty canvases shine out from golden frames. There is a witchery in every walk in the open that only those who look through the eyes of the soul, but it is a balm of Gilead for heart and head.

SEIZING THE MAILS

America's protest against the seizure of American mail by England is based on the following plain article of the Hague convention of 1907, which is accepted as international law: "The postal correspondence of neutrals or belligerents, whatever its official or private character may be, found on the high seas on board a neutral or enemy ship, is inviolable. If the ship is detained, the correspondence is forwarded by the captor with the least possible delay."

The sharp note which it is said the government is to send to England may bring some concessions, but there are doubts of it.

England, it is true, has made some valuable discoveries through opening the mails but that does not justify her action and it must be stopped as an open violation of international law. On this, as on the case of the packers, she will have to back down.

STILL THE BOXES

The Sun has been calling the attention of some central stores to their unsightly and dangerous practice of piling up boxes and packing cases on the sidewalks near their place of business. In some instances they have not yet learned to do better. This might be all right in the village variety store but it is surely out of place in the heart of a great city. Sooner or later there will be a serious accident to the children who come to cart them off, and then the municipal regulations will have to be enforced to the letter. From the commendation that has come to The Sun for its pointed suggestions we know that the police are keeping an eye on some establishments, and a few store proprietors may be shown that they are offending not only against civic standards but against the law as well.

At the annual parish meeting of the Middle Street Baptist church in Portsmouth, N. H., Charles H. Clough was elected clerk of the parish for the 37th consecutive year.

The Evansville, Ind., telegraph office received a call a few nights ago from a well known family there to send a messenger boy to the home to attend to the three-year-old baby while the parents went to see a show. The call was filled.

Dr. Winslow Anderson and a party of nurses of St. Winifred's hospital in San Francisco put to sea 15 miles the other day to get 36 gallons of pure salt water to treat an ailment of a patient. The water was taken from a depth of 20 fathoms in 12 three-gallon leaded jugs.

Cause of Collapse

The foreman employed by a big contractor rushed into the office of the boss wild-eyed and pallid-looking. "Boss," said he, in a greatly agitated voice, "one of them new houses of ours fell down in the night!"

"What's that?" exclaimed the boss, jumping right up and beginning to take notice. "What was the matter? How did it happen?"

"It was the fault of the workmen, boss," answered the foreman. "They

He Didn't Need Any

Handicapped but undaunted, the actors in the touring "drammer" were doing their best, but their efforts were spoiled by the rude comments of a small boy at the back of the hall.

At last, after some of his best "scenes" had been spoiled, the hero bellowed melodramatically: "Ladies and gentlemen, five years ago I lost a monkey. Tonight it has turned up again at the back of the hall!"

The applause and laughter which greeted this brilliant sally had hardly died away when the voice of the interloper was heard to ask blandly: "What did you do with the organ?"

Mother's Way Best

Little Willie felt indignant, and the family doctor ordered him to take a powder.

"Come on, dear," said mother, coaxingly, when the powder arrived, "take this; it will make you quite well at once."

"Don't want to!" wailed Willie, backing away from the teaspoon. "Don't want any medicine!"

"Oh, Willie," his mother said reproachfully, "as she drew the small boy near to her, 'you've never heard me complain about a little powder, have you?'"

"No, and neither would I," was William's startling reply, "if I could just put it on my face as you do. But I have to swallow it!"

A Popular Jail

George Fitch, the Illinois humorist, had his own ideas about prison reform schemes. He expressed his attitude one day while discussing Thomas Mott Osborne's ideas with another man.

"Osborne's ideas may work out all right," said Fitch, "but whenever I hear of a warden holding surprise parties and rainbow teas in his penitentiary I think of what happened when Tim Cullinan was chief of police in Junction City, Kan."

"Tim," in fact, was the whole police force. He had 11 prisoners on his hands, and was anxious to get rid of them, for they were a heavy responsibility, Tim having to keep watch over the actions of all Junction City.

"When you feed the critters," he said to the jailer one day, "just accidentally leave the door open and get out of sight for a while."

"But times were hard and picking up a living outside wasn't so easy," Tim hadn't figured on that, but he did when he came back that evening and found the 11 prisoners still there and seven more who had slipped in while the jailer wasn't looking. Living was better and cheaper inside the jail than outside."

The Dog

I've never known a dog to wag his tail in glee he didn't feel. Nor quit his old-time friend to tag at some more influential heel.

I've never known a dog to show half-way devotion to his friend. To seek a kinder man to know.

I've never known a dog to kick the humblest dog I ever knew. Was, to the boy who loved him, true.

I've never known a dog to fake affection for a present gain. A false display of love to make.

I've never known a dog to Spot That seemed to be what he was rot.

But I have known a dog to fight with his strength to shield a friend.

And whether wrong or whether right, To stick with him until the end.

And I have known a dog to kick the hand of him that men would kick.

And I have known a dog to bear starvation pangs from day to day With him who had been glad to share his bread and meat along the way.

No dog, however mean or rude, Is guilty of ingratitude.

The dog is listed with the dumb, His messages to humans come. By faithful conduct and by deed. He shows, as seldom mortals do, A high ideal of being true.

IMPURE MILK KILLS TWO

TWO DEAD AND 40 ILL IN WATER-TOWN--COW WITH INVISIBLE GROWTH CAUSED TROUBLE.

BOSTON, May 20.—Two Watertown residents, Mrs. Thomas Nally of Boyd street and Thomas P. Chambers, 33, of 65 Front street, are dead from drinking impure milk, and 40 other Watertown people are seriously ill from the same cause.

The Watertown health officials say they have traced the trouble to one cow in the herd of a local milkman, who is not held in the least responsible. The cow was afflicted with a growth, which was not visible to the milkman, but which affected the quality of the milk.

It was on Sunday that the milk trouble was first noticed, and prompt action was taken. The cow to which the impure milk was traced has not been milked since that day. It was taken to a bacteriological station yesterday and will be slaughtered and examined today.

Many of those made ill by the milk obtained it in milk shakes from a drug store in Watertown. It was there that Chambers got his fatal draft of the liquid, and his brother, Henry, who was with him at the time, was taken ill also, and is now in a serious condition.

LABOR LAW SET ASIDE

Supreme Court Gives Decision in Suit Brought by Branch of the I. W. W. Against Other Union

BOSTON, May 19.—The supreme court today declared unconstitutional a state law which forbade that judges could not issue injunctions in labor disputes unless it was apparent that irreparable damage would be caused by their failure to act. The decision was based on a suit in equity brought by members of a local union affiliated with the Industrial Workers of the World against members of another union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. The plaintiffs alleged that the defendants had entered into a conspiracy to deprive them of their livelihood unless they joined the latter's organization.

On a hearing in the lower court a demurrer by the defendants, who contended that no injunction could be issued, was sustained, and the case was appealed. In ordering that it be remanded, the supreme court said: "If a laborer must stand helpless by a court's failure to protect his society protecting respecting the same general subject which is denied to him it can not be said that he is afforded the equal protection of the laws. The right to make contracts to earn money by labor is at least as essential to the laborer as is any property to other members of society. If as much protection is not given by the laws to this property, which often may be the only substantial asset as is given to other kinds of property, the laborer stands on a plane inferior to that of other property owners. Absolutly equality before the law is a fundamental principle of our own constitution."

AT THE PINDER HEARING

Deputy Downey Testifies That He Never Saw Messenger Work ing Except on Sunday Morning

The hearing given in review of Mayor O'Donnell's finding in the John J. Pinder case was resumed in police court this afternoon before Judge Enright.

Supt. Redmond E. Welch was first called by Dennis J. Murphy, counsel for Mr. Pinder, and asked as to the duties of the warrant officer, wagon officer, liquor officers and captains.

Supt. Welch explained the duties of each officer thoroughly and then Mr. Murphy asked:

"WERE ANY of the duties you have telephone to come to the station?"

"No."

"Mr. Moffatt looked over some of the prints in February of this year?"

"Yes."

"How long does it take to learn finger printing?"

"About five lessons."

"During the years 1913-14-15 were kept pretty busy?"

"Yes."

"They were not."
"There were the same number of officers in 1914 as there were in 1915?"
"Yes."
"Are any of the superior officers not working at the present time?"
"Yes; Sergt. Groulx."
"Do you know of any wages due any superior officer in 1915 that are to be paid out of your estimate of 1916?"
"No."
"Do you remember that you inserted the sum of $2,000 in your estimate for a new police patrol?"
"Yes."
"Why did you do this?"
"The keeper, or anybody instructed to do so."
"How long have you worked with Plinder?"
"About six years."
At this time the court wanted to know what Deputy Downey had served during his work with Mr. Plinder, and Deputy Downey replied that Mr. Plinder was angry and carried messes.
"To your mind, the superior officers have enough work to perform?"
"Yes."
The wagon officers don't stay out the barn and smoke all day, do they?"
"They smoke when they want to have plenty to do."
"There are no more officers in

"Did you apply to the mayor for 10 extra patrolmen?"

"To your mind, was Mr. Pinder only loiter in the police department which comprises over 100 men?"

them to him in on open beats, didn't you?"

"Yes."

City Solicitor Harold A. Varnum asked Mr. Welsh why he questioned pertaining to department expenses in 1911 and 1915.

Auditor Paige

Auditor Paige was next called and questioned by Mr. Murphy and City Solicitor Varnum as to whether he knew that Capt. Brosnan has filed a claim against the city for wages due him last year while he was sick. He said he had heard a report to this effect but didn't know whether it was true. Mr. Paige was also asked several questions as to whether the back pay, if awarded Capt. Brosnan, would be paid out of the claims department. He said it would not.

Deputy Downey

Deputy Downey was put on the stand by City Solicitor Varnum to show that he can perform the duties of finger printing and other tasks formerly done by Mr. Pinder.

"You have been deputy how long?"

"27 years."

"Did you ever see him doing work about the station?"

"Yes, on Sunday mornings."

"And was Sunday morning the first time you ever saw him working?"

"Yes."

"During the absence of the superintendent, you were in charge of the department?"

"I was."

"Have you seen Mr. Pinder hanging around the station during the superintendent's absence?"

"I have."

"Why didn't you ask him to get to work and do something?"

"I always thought he was doing work for the superintendent."

Judge Enright here asked: "Do you think that it should be a part of a city's duty to take finger prints?"

"I don't know. Sgt. Moffatt always took prints while he was here, and I have done the work regularly since Pinder left."

"Do you consider it a part of a city's work?"

"It is the part of any officer's work."

"Do you run errands for the prisoners?"

Mr. Murphy then asked:

"No."

"Do you get food for the prisoners?"

314 "You have done nigel printing?"
 315 "Yes."
 316 "How long have you done this 317 work?"
 318 "Since Feb. 1."
 319 "You are able to read and classify

 321 "Yes."
 322 "No."
 323 "Do you send for lawyers when 324 oners desire them?"
 325 "No. I have telephoned for lawyer."
 326 Adjourned at 4.35 o'clock to Tuesday
 327 afternoon at 2 o'clock.

84 "How many prints have you taken
85 since Mr. Pinder left?"
86 "About 25 or 30."
87 "Are there other men in the depart-
88 ment who can do the work?"
89 "Yes, Serat. McCoughrey, Lieut.
90 Maher, Captain Brosnan and Sergt.
91 Bigelow."
92 "Who attends the information win-
93 dows?"
94 "The wagon officer and sometimes I
95 do."
96 "Who interviews prisoners now?"
97 "The keepers."
98 "There are three keepers?"

NEW LONDON TOO FAST

"Millionaires" Put it Over Lowell at Spalding Park Yesterday—Score 4 to 1

Harry Lord's baseball aggregation, which is struggling to hold a place in the first division of the league, was outplayed by the speedy New London team yesterday afternoon.

The score, 4 to 1, does not represent the degree of superiority as at least two of the visitors' failures would not have been scored had the local team's fielding been better.

Bunny Hearn, a big southpaw who looks the country with the Giants a couple of years ago, was instrumental in the defeat of the Lowell team. Hearn has been moving "em down all along the circuit and he did not allow the Lowell slubbers to interfere with his record.

The seven hits he obtained off him were well scattered and but for an error by Weiser in the first inning Lowell would have been blanked.

Horsey, who worked for Lowell, showed much more than he has all season. Bases on balls were few and far between in the game, Horsey handing out two passes and Hearn not any.

Together with Hearn's pitching the speed of the New London team was very conspicuous. Coached along by Gene McCann the players availed themselves of every opening for advancement and at times seemed to bewilder the Lowell players by their speed.

First Inning
The visitors went out in one, two, three order in the first inning. Russell the lead off man, fell a victim to Horsey's puzzling delivery and went out on strikes. Dowd was second out on a fly to Stimpson. In left field, Kane made a beautiful running catch of Weiser's long fly to center.

No runs, no hits, no errors.
Kane reached second base when Weiser dropped the Lowell man's drive to left field. Lord went to first after being hit by a pitched ball. After two unsuccessful attempts to bunt Stimpson sent a grounder to Russell and the latter threw to Dowd forcing Lord at second. Kane going to third on the play. Kane scored the first run of the game on Barrows' drive to Rodriguez. Downey went out on a fly to Becker who caught the ball near the right field foul line.

1 run, no hits, 1 error.
Score—Lowell 1, New London 0.
Second Inning
New London evened up matters in the second inning when Rodriguez scored on Torphy's fumble, the latter making the error as a result of being too anxious to nail his man at the plate.

Whitehouse sent a grounder to Downey and was out at first. Rodriguez followed with a single to left. Dowd misjudged Becker's fly and finally when he got under the ball he dropped it. Rodriguez going to third and Becker to second. O'Connell drew a free pass and the bases were filled. With the infield playing close, Fish hit an easy grounder to Torphy, but the latter fumbled the ball and Rodriguez scored. Hearn hit an easy grounder to Horsey and Becker was forced out at the plate. Russell was third out on a fly to Barrows.

One run, 1 hit, 3 errors.
Munn sent a fly to right field which Becker had little difficulty in taking care of and Torphy went out. Dowd to Rodriguez. Kihullen singled to right field, but Horsey closed the inning by striking out.

No runs, 1 one hit, no errors.
Score: Lowell 1, New London 1.
Third Inning
Neither side scored in the third inning. Dowd hit a grounder to Lord who threw him out at first. Downey got Weiser's fly in back of second. Whitehouse rapped the leather to right field for a two-bagger. Barrows made a good attempt to get the sphere, touching the ball but being unable to hold it. Rodriguez flied to Kane in left center.

No runs, 1 one hit, no errors.
Kane opened the latter half of the third with a single through the pitcher's box and went to second on Lord's sacrifice. Stimpson was second out on a fly to Becker. Barrows hit a high fly to O'Connell and was the third out.

No runs, 1 one hit, no errors.
Score: Lowell 1, New London 1.
Fourth Inning
The visitors forged to the front in the fourth when O'Connell, after making a two bagger, scored on Hearn's single. Becker flied out to Barrows and O'Connell followed with a two bagger to the right field fence. Fish also flied out to Barrows. O'Connell scored on Hearn's single to right. Hearn tried to go to second on the throw to the plate but he was caught in the act.

1 run, 2 hits, no errors.
The Lowell players were retired in the order in the latter half of the inning. Downey popped a fly to Russell. Munn struck out and Torphy was third out on a line drive to Rodriguez.

No runs, no hits, no errors.
Score: Lowell 1, New London 2.
Fifth Inning
Russell opened the fifth with a single and Dowd followed with a strikeout. Weiser sent a grounder to Torphy who tagged second and threw to first for a double play.

No runs, 1 hit, no errors.
Kihullen popped a fly to Hearn and Torphy struck out. Kane singled to right field but a misplay by Weiser was out trying to steal second. Fish to Dowd.

No runs, no hits, no errors.
Score: Lowell 1, New London 2.
Sixth Inning
New London added another run in the sixth inning Becker scoring on O'Connell's single. Lowell failed to send a man across the plate.

Whitehouse went out on a grounder to Munn. Rodriguez hit a grounder to Torphy and was out at first. Becker singled to left field and stole second and scored on O'Connell's single. Russell flied out. Kihullen failed to touch the runner. Lord made a one-bag stop of Fish's grounder and threw him out at first.

One run, 2 hits, no errors.
Lord sent a grounder to Dowd and was retired at first. Stimpson made a pretty single to left field, and Barrows followed with a fly to Becker in right. Downey bunted to O'Connell who threw to Dowd, forcing Stimpson at second. No runs, 1 hit, no errors. Score: New London 3, Lowell 1.

Seventh Inning
Horsey gathered in Hearn's grounder and retired him at first and Russell followed with a foul fly to Kihullen. Dowd drew a free pass and stole second and scored on Weiser's triple to center field. Whitehouse struck out.

One run, 1 hit, no errors.
In Lowell's half Munn flied to Rodriguez and Torphy bunted an easy fly to Dowd. Russell caught Kihullen's line drive along the third base line.

No runs, no hits, no errors.
Score—Lowell 1, New London 3.
Eighth Inning
In the eighth inning Rodriguez hit to Lord and died at first. Downey gathered in Becker's grounder and retired the latter at first. O'Connell flied to Stimpson.

No runs, no hits, no errors.
Lohman went to bat for Horsey in the latter half of the inning and he sent a grounder to Hearn and was out at first. Kane then made a single, it being his third hit during the game. Lord sacrificed and Kane went to second. Stimpson hit one that bounced over Hearn's head and Kane went to third. Barrows ended the inning with a fly to Weiser in left center.

No runs, 2 hits, no errors.
Score—Lowell 1, New London 4.
Ninth Inning
Green went in to pitch for Lowell in the ninth inning. Fish flied to Kihullen.

Hearn got a single to right field. Russell walked to first after being hit by a pitched ball. Kihullen took Dowd's foul fly along the first base line. Weiser flied to Kane.

No runs, 1 hit, no errors.
Downey singled to left and was caught at second while trying to stretch it into a double. Greenhalge went to bat for Munn. He struck out.

Torphy flied to Fish.
No runs, no hits, no errors.
Final score: Lowell 1, New London 4.

LATE B.B. SEASON

Cold Weather Effects Pitches More Than Sluggers

Baseballs are being made no different this year than they were a year ago and the big scores that have been turning up ever since the start of the campaigns in the major and minor leagues cannot be held at the doors of the manufacturers. Getting down to the nuts of things, more blame is probably laid at the door of a backward season than any one other factor. The Eastern League hasn't been immune from top-sided games but the answer is that the clubs have been having a fine old time battling against poor pitching. The pitchers are not in shape, at least the major portion of them, and this is particularly true of pitchers who are forced to wait for warm weather before showing their best wares. They need conditioning and haven't had a chance to work as freely as they might wish, simply because the sun has not been shining.

The Why of Heavy Hitting
Another explanation of the heavy hitting, which has been particularly noted in the Eastern league, is the fact that when a ball player starts in the spring he has all the previous winter's store of energy back of him waiting to break loose. The answer is that most ball players, providing, of course, they have lived right, are eager to get back into the game. That stored up energy is waiting to display itself in base hits and when the pitching isn't of the brand to counter-balance it there is bound to be a surplus of hitting.

Fine Pitching Feats
In spite of these factors there have been some notable pitching feats this season in the Eastern league. Alsworth of New Haven and Durand of Portland have one-hit games to their credit and Alsworth has also broken into the two-hit game list. Justis of Springfield has twirled a two-hit game and six have participated in seven four-hit performances.

Horn's Biggest Score
The number of games in which clubs secured more than 15 hits number seven. Springfield is credited with two 16-hit games and one 17-hit game. New London leads in this respect with 13 hits off McGlinley and Scanlon of Worcester.

In the matter of high score games there have been 15 of them, the Hartford-Lynn 15 to 10 affair being the leader. The 19 to 9 shutout which Lowell secured over New Haven is the leader among the users of the white wash brush. Four games have been won by 7 to 0 verdicts.

SHUTOUTS IN E. LEAGUE

LOWELL, NEW LONDON AND NEW HAVEN DIVIDE HONORS OF 17 WHITEWASHES THUS FAR

Seventeen of the 69 games played in the Eastern league to date have resulted in whitewashes. The cleanup honors are equally shared by Lowell, New Haven and New London. Each team has used the brush on three occasions. Springfield, Lawrence and Bridgeport have scored two shutouts each, while Portland and Worcester have figured in one shutout victory each. Lynn and Hartford have not been able to keep its opponents away from the plate in a single game this season.

The three shutouts registered by the New Haven club were the results of some classy pitching by Alsworth, the recruit sent to Murphy for further seasoning by Connie Mack. The Quaker youngster has been burning up the league with his speed and general pitching ability and right now looks like the find of the season. He leads the circuit in shutouts. His first wash day performance was pulled at the expense of the Portland team, in New Haven. In addition to holding the Duffs to three hits, he fanned seven men and won his game, 2 to 0. Worcester fell early before his curves, losing a 5 to 0 game, in which Alsworth allowed the Boosters only one hit. The third shutout registered by the New Haven youngster was in Portland, Wednesday afternoon, when he won a 2 to 0 game. He registered 16 strikeouts in the three games and in addition allowed only six hits. This is without a doubt the best the league has to offer in the pitching line, in fact the best that any other league in the country could serve up for the benefit of the good leaguers.

Matt Zeiser, the veteran of the Lowell team, has been in the limelight this season. He has pitched two of the locals' shutout victories. Green and King figured in the other. Martin, the crack Bridgeport hurler, who looms up like a good prospect, has won two shutout games.

Fuller, the spittin' heater and Pearson, the veteran slaban of the circuit, are credited with Lawrence's shutout wins. The three shutouts credited to New London have been pitched by Hearne, Reiger and Fortune respectively.

Hal Justin, a Worcester castoff, pitched Springfield to a 2 to 0 victory early in the season and Powers, the Iron man, worked Lowell for a 1 to 0 victory the other day, which account for the two clean wins credited to Flynn's crew. Dick Durning, a left hander, whom Hamilton had this spring and cut loose, is credited with the only shutout victory that Portland has figured in, while Benny Van Dyke pitched the only game in which the Worcesterers held their opponents useless. Each game won by these two southpaw heavies was landed by a 1 to 0 score. Three of the shutouts have been won by one run, six by two runs, two by three runs, two by four runs, one by five runs, one by six runs, one by 12 runs and one by a margin of 13 runs.

MAJOR LEAGUE AVERAGES

Daubert Tops the N. L. Batters—Braves Lead in Club Batting—Speaker Best in Am. League

CHICAGO, May 20.—Jake Daubert, Brooklyn's first baseman, is leading the National league, according to averages published here today and including games played last Wednesday. His percentage is .384. Fred Williams, Chicago, though batting under .300 leads in home runs with six, is tied with Zimmerman, Chicago, in total bases at 60 and is tied with Groh, Cincinnati, in runs scored at twenty.

Carey, Pittsburgh, continues to lead the base stealers, having 13 to his credit. Boston has taken first place in club batting with .272. National league batters, hitting .300 or better in at least half the games are:

Daubert, Brooklyn, .384; Zimmerman, Chicago, .358; Robertson, New York, .337; Raden, New York, .335; Schulte, Chicago, .334; Chase, Cincinnati, .333; Hinchman, Pittsburgh, .329; Gaudy, Boston, .329; E. Burns, Philadelphia, .327; G. Burns, New York, .323; Kauf, New York, .309; Cravath, Philadelphia, .306; Stock, Philadelphia, .305; Doyle, New York, .301; Cuthaw, Brooklyn, .301; Snyder, St. Louis, .301.

Ranked according to earned runs per game made off them the ten leading pitchers of the National league, including those who have taken part in at least six games are:

Brooklyn, won 2, lost 2; Kauthe, Pittsburgh, won 2, lost 1; Ames, St. Louis, won 4, lost 2; Alexander, Philadelphia, won 5, lost 2; Stimpny's throw and received a mild call down from Manager Lord.

Lowell goes to Lynn Monday and plays a return engagement with Piaper's team here Tuesday.

McCann is calling for "pep" from his men all the time. As soon as he entered the field yesterday and found some of the players taking it easy he hunted up a couple of idle balls and started some batting and fielding practice.

Torphy allowed New London to score its first run by an unfortunate misplay. With the bases full, Fish hit play. The bases full, Fish hit play. The bases full, Fish hit play.

Fish, the New London catcher, is playing a fine game. Fish played with Manchester in the old New England league and is only a youngster. He is also one of the smallest catchers in the league, but he is delivering the goods.

Included in the New London lineup were the following men who have been in the big league and are being seasoned: Dowd, Weiser, Whitehouse, Rodriguez, Becker, Fish and Hearn.

When Greenhalge appeared at the plate for Munn yesterday Empire Stadium announced: "Greenhalge batting for Munn." Greenhalge did not bat, but he was in the game, and that Greenhalge was at bat for Munn.

Fred Reiger, who is on the New London pitching staff, is a brother of Johnnie Reiger, formerly with the Lowell-Manchester combination and now with Bridgeport. Fred started in the game with the New London team in the old Connecticut league and was taken up by Fall River some years ago when "Little Jawn" O'Brien was manager. "Jawn" used to say that Reiger was a fine pitcher, but the latter, mired in the whole wide world, "Why," said Little Jawn, "he's so lazy he won't even coach from the bench." "Little Jawn's" idea of activity was to start something when the game was breaking right.

Weiser's wallop to deep right-center in the eighth was some close. Kane started after it with the crack of the bat, but the ball sailed way over his head.

Kane's batting and fast work in the field has been a feature of the games here this week. Kane usually bats from the left side of the plate, but with Hearn in port-side pitching, he changed over yesterday and slammed out three bingles. He got on base every time up, reaching second in the first inning on an error.

Jesse Burkett stepped to the plate in place of Murphy in the ninth inning of yesterday's Lawrence-Hartford battle and cracked out a single. Jesse admits that he is too old to run bases, however, and called upon Art Lavigne to take his place at first. If Jesse intends to use himself as a pinch hitter he will be classed as a playing manager and will be included in the 14 men limit for the team.

Neal Ball, manager of the Bridgeport club, has signed up Pitcher Geo. McQuillan formerly of the Toronto club of the International league.

THEY DO SAY

That Charlie enjoyed the kids' party. That Jim Hearn says optimism is a gift. That the mayor has not yet been recalled. That the rain was a blessing to the farmers. That the poetess is also some editorial writer. That Kate found out what the little spring is for. That the barking cur seems to have lost his bark. That the Lowell ball team is playing a great game. That everybody is interested in the health exhibits. That those flesh colored stockings are not at all pretty. That Martin does not believe in Sunday baseball. That preparedness is getting to be a very dry subject. That originality is what a great many of us lack. That a lot of grown-ups never get over their toy age. That Harrows certainly proved himself a hero Thursday. That everybody is suspicious of the man who helps himself. That Lowell is soon to have nice clean streets of mornings. That the old sparrow enjoyed the chocolate frozen pudding. That John bought a new pair of spike shoes for bowling. That the police of 1916 cleaned up one of 1915's crap games. That children are apt to show the cussedness of their parents. That the local fans are waiting for some good baseball weather. That Jupiter Pluvius worked overtime in this city Wednesday. That there are a whole lot of towns between here and Worcester. That many wonder how some people can afford to own automobiles. That you never hear anybody say that nobody loves a fat woman. That the captain says diamonds are a better investment than candy. That "indoor sports" had the call during the early part of the week. That it's some satisfaction to know we can think whatever we choose. That the Boy Scouts are going to put in a bid on the Pawtucket bridge. That the water in the Merrimack is very high for this time of the year. That one of the hardest things in the world to keep clean is a typewriter. That the health exhibits were a great benefit to the city and its people. That if there were no fat men there would be some other kind of a nuisance. That the introduction of Rice in water pipes may give the water a beerish taste. That the local New Haven railroad clerks are still giving the "cops" the laugh. That the New York Giants are now playing the best game in the National league. That two good live men ought to be able to do all the inside work at police station. That Owen Monahan hopes to be able to make some automobile rides this summer. That it takes the man who has nothing to say to sit down and write a long letter. That a policeman is needed to keep the boulevard free from obnoxious boys on Sundays. That there are many horses in the fire department that should be sent to Red Acre farm. That Manager Lord made a good move when he shifted Outfielders Barrows and Kane. That John James is looking for the man who used his name when the crap joint was raided. That "Rab" is certainly some what player, especially when he has Charlie for a partner. That Lowell will have nice clean streets if Charlie and Newell can agree on the price of water. That Abe Martin says a republican will live out of office but somehow he doesn't seem to thrive. That although there are a few straw hats in evidence, the light overcoat still feels very comfortable. That certain friends of ours are very glad to learn that the Mexican hairless dog is good for rheumatism. That all the departments at the plants of the U. S. Cartridge Co. will soon be run on two shifts. That the Mayflower must have been some craft if all the claimed ancestors came over on the first trip. That last year's government and the school board promised to pay the Genoa club $40,000 for its property. That some people delight in being out of season regarding the vagary as indicative of some high talent. That it's funny how a fellow always receives an invitation to dinner when he's having company at the house. That when boys engage in "shooting" they are in the high time for the police to get busy. That there will be some considerable scrapping if we all go to the same place when we dine. Take, for instance, well, never mind. That the dancing party conducted by the graduating class of the Lowell high school Thursday evening was one of the most delightful social events of the year. That because the thermometer under Page's clock in Merrimack square the instrument was taken out, overhauled and it is now hoped it will behave. That it is rather unusual for a member of the police department to "dig" into his own pocket in order to pay part of his expenses when on official business. That the May procession to be held at St. John's church, North Chelmsford, tomorrow afternoon, will be conducted on a more elaborate scale than in former years. That Charlie Morse says if Newell Putnam wants money to place out his appropriation, he will have to get it from some other source than the street department. That the employees of the U. S. Cartridge Co. who are to take part in the games to be held on the South common on May 30 feel confident of winning a majority of the events. That the man working on the new bridge in Chelmsford street who catches the red hot rivets in a keg would make a good man for some ball team. His errors are few and far between. That the residents of Pawtucketville are wondering if Commissioner Utman intends to carry out his original intention of placing the new triple combination pumping engine at the central fire station instead of at the Fletcher street house.

100,000 Cheer Pres. Wilson

WILSON, ONE OF NATION'S GREATEST PRESIDENTS

Gov. Craig Praises President—America Trying to Set Example of Peace, Says Wilson

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 20.—President Wilson today addressed a crowd estimated at more than 100,000 gathered here for the one hundred and forty-first anniversary of the signing of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence. He was introduced by Gov. Craig of North Carolina, who spoke of the president as one of the greatest leaders the nation has ever seen.

The president spoke only briefly and devoted himself almost wholly to discussion of the ideals of the United States.

He declared "untainted Americanism" was needed and that the United States must preserve its ideals in order to be of assistance in helping the world. He was enthusiastically applauded.

"I have come back for a brief visit to a region dear to my heart," said the president. "I do not know whether I can interpret for you the spirit of this occasion. It is necessary to realize that just what we celebrate today there were only 2,000,000 people in this nation when it became independent. Now there are 100,000,000 people. There have been changes, but we have the same element. What I want to impress on you is that we have always been in the making. Among the men who founded this nation there was a very great passion for human liberty. 'What I want to call your attention to is that this nation has devoted itself too much to material things. There have been other nations just as rich as the United States. They must think of what we are going to do with our wealth and our prosperity.'

"American did not come out of the south and it did not come out of New England. It came out of the middle states where there was a mixture of different races."

The president spoke of the European war. "What are the elements of this war?" he asked. "It is a clash of different elements. Europe is fighting out in war the questions we are fighting out in peace. As the processes of communication have grown better nations and peoples have grown closer together. Men can now learn more about each other. So that now the melting pot is bigger than America. It is as big as the world. See, then, what a new world we have come into."

Here in America we have tried to set the example of peace by keeping together. Isn't it the sign and dawn of a new age that the one thing now

GERMANS AGAIN RAID THE EAST COAST OF ENGLAND

Seaplanes Drop Bombs on Isle of Thanet and Southeastern Kent—Air Attacks on Dunkirk and Bergues—Germans on Offensive Along Yser Canal—Attempt to Break British Front for Drive on Calais

There have been numerous raids by German aircraft. Three seaplanes raided the British east coast but according to the British announcement they caused but a few casualties and the raiders lost one of their machines which was brought down off the Belgian coast. An aeroplane attack on Dunkirk and Bergues resulted in the killing of six persons and the wounding of 35 others.

Turks Report Little Fighting

According to today's Turkish official report there has been little fighting of importance between the Turkish and Russian armies fronting each other in the Caucasus and Mesopotamian campaigns.

Germans on Offensive

With comparative quiet prevailing at Verdun, the Germans last night made a thrust at the British lines in Flanders attempting to cross the Yser canal north of Ypres. The French war office, which reports the attempt, declares that it failed.

GERMAN AIRPLANES DROPPED 37 BOMBS IN RAID ON ENGLISH EAST COAST

LONDON, May 20, 2:05 p.m.—Three German seaplanes made a raid on the English east coast last night, a British official announcement this afternoon states. One of the aircraft was brought down off the Belgian coast. The seaplanes dropped 37 bombs, killing one soldier and wounding two civilians.

The statement says:

"A hostile air raid was carried out on the east coast of Kent last night by at least three seaplanes. The raiders made the English coast at a few minutes past 2 o'clock this morning. One seaplane then turned north and dropped a dozen explosive bombs over the Isle of Thanet. Some windows were broken. Otherwise there were no casualties and no other damage."

"Two other seaplanes turned south and dropped 25 explosive bombs over southeastern Kent. In one town a few bombs took effect. One soldier was killed, one woman and one seaman were injured, one public house was wrecked and several houses were damaged."

"The remaining bombs caused no casualties or damage."

"The raiders all made off as soon as their bombs were discharged. One of the raiding seaplanes was brought down."

ENGINEER RICE FINDS LEAK IN SAND FILTERS

Bad Joints in Collecting Pipe the Cause of Trouble—Board of Health Orders House Vacated

Engineer Clifton Rice, the young man who looked after the city's interests in the construction of the filtration plant and who has remained in the city's employ, went through the collecting pipe in the sand filters yesterday.

Engineer Rice went to Boston today with Commissioner Newell F. Putnam and Supt. Thomas for a conference with Mr. Barbour, the consulting engineer, in connection with the construction of the filtration plant, and Mr. Gow, the contractor. The responsibility of both the contractor and consulting engineer does not expire until June and while the big leak furnishes sufficient cause for worry, it is well for the city that it happened before June 1. Had it happened after that date the city would have had to stand the expense.

The means of getting at the trouble will be discussed and arrived at this afternoon and the work in connection with it will be started Monday. There is no telling what the expense will be, but if it means the unloading of the several tons of sand and the digging up of the concrete and the relaying of the pipe, the expense will be considerable. The collecting pipe is under the concrete in the bottom of the filters and runs the full length of the filters.

There are six sand filters with a total area of one acre, and a filtered water reservoir of 1,000,000 gallons capacity. The six coke filters have a total area of two-fifths of an acre, a settling basin, divided into two units, with a total capacity of 500,000 gallons. The coke filters have been in use for several months and are said to give good satisfaction. All of the city water is being coke filtered at the present time. The sand filters were being tested when the leak was discovered. The sand filters were not in constant operation at any time, and the leak was discovered before it was known if the filters would suit the purpose for which they were intended. The sand filters

CORSET CORRECTNESS
The lines of the corset must meet the demand of the new mode or the new mode will not be effectively reproduced in your suit or dress no matter how fetching it may look apart by itself. Unless the corset succeeds in the supreme achievement of moulding the individual figure to conform to fashion's authentic lines, then better no corsets at all. The question of the corset is more important than for many years. It is pleasantly solved here.

GENERAL ORDERS TO BE ISSUED
ON MONDAY, SO SAYS CAPT. G. E. WORTHEN

General orders for Memorial day parade will be issued Monday. This announcement was made this afternoon by Capt. George E. Worthen, chief of staff. All of the military companies and other bodies asked to serve as escorts have replied with the exception of the high school and the business men's battalion.

Thirty-eight veterans of the Civil war, most of them residents of Lowell and with records for service in the Massachusetts regiments have died since May 30th, 1915. A complete record of the deaths has been kept by George E. Worthen, superintendent of state aid. Some of the best known Civil war veterans have answered their last roll call in the past eleven months and more, and the little band of survivors will decorate their graves on May 30, one week from next Monday.

The average age of all who died during the year was slightly under 70 years. The last to go was George C. Hedrick, whose funeral took place on Thursday of the present week. Mr. Hedrick had been a member of Post 42 for 47 years. Capt. Worthen has been a member of the same post for 48 years and Mr. Worthen and Col. Albert Pinder, the latter a member of Post 42 for 50 years are the two oldest G.A.R. Post members in Lowell.

THEFT OF WAR ORDERS

Dist. Atty. Swann Investigating Wire Tapping and Use of Eavesdropping Device

NEW YORK, May 20.—District Attorney Swann continued today an investigation of the theft of copies of war munition orders from the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., the tapping of telephone wires by the police, and the use of an eavesdropping device by a private detective agency in an effort to trace the "grapevine" method by which the information was pilfered.

State Senator Thompson, chairman of a legislative committee which has been inquiring into the affair, declared that the activities of the detective agency had been in violation of the United States constitution and that some of the operators of the agency had fled from the city to avoid testifying before the committee.

The investigation has resulted in a spirited controversy between Senator Thompson and Mayor Mitchell. The mayor asserts that a vital national interest is involved. The senator denies that any of the nation's interests are affected. The United States district attorney asserts that "any publication of the facts at present would be most regrettable from the standpoint of the administration of federal justice."

Sensor Thompson's committee has adjourned the hearing until Monday. The senator said he would be glad to turn over the whole investigation to a congressional committee if one were appointed for that purpose in accordance with a resolution presented in the house at Washington yesterday by Representative George W. Loft of this city.

BOY STRUCK BY AUTO
The ambulance was called to the corner of Anne and East Merrimack street shortly after 3.15 o'clock this afternoon and Emilie Young, a motor-cyclist was taken to St. John's hospital suffering from a wrenched leg. The motor-cycle which Young was riding was struck by an automobile operated by Walter Slater of 64 Banks street and Young was thrown to the street, the machine landing on top of his leg. N. Y. MILITIA AT CAMP

1000 Members Participate in Military, Naval and Aviation Tournament, First in U. S.

NEW YORK, May 20.—More than a thousand members of the New York Guard went into camp today at the Sheephead Bay speedway in preparation for the opening this afternoon of a military, naval and aviation tournament, said to be the first of its kind to be held in this country.

The tournament will continue for a week and the profits derived from it will be applied by a committee appointed by the governor and mayor to promote the cause of national defense.

President Wilson was asked to open the tournament by giving an electric signal from Washington.

The program for today included the use of army and Red Cross dogs in trailing and repulsing an attack by highway men, a border patrol and surprise attack, the establishment of a base for cavalry, artillery and infantry.

try, wall scaling and tent pitching contests and races.

Aviators participating in a cross-country rally are expected to arrive at the speedway this afternoon from distant cities in a competition for prizes for time and distance. Among them are Stevenson, McGordon and Victor Carlstrom in a flight from Newport News and Frank Burleson, flying from Itasca, N. Y.

On Sunday the National Guard forces at the speedway will be augmented by several thousand men who will take part in repulsing an imaginary invasion by a foreign army. This year's invasion by a mobilization expert is intended as a demonstration of how quickly the National Guard could be assembled.

Private owners of automobiles were asked to loan 2000 cars for this purpose, but only 200 responded.

On "Child Welfare."

Hundreds of people visited the exhibit yesterday and a great interest in it was manifested. The exhibit was located in the hall where the N.Y.C.A. and the Boy Scouts are located and where a stereopticon lecture was given by Dr. Marshall L. Alling on "How to Keep Well."

This evening at 8 o'clock Dr. F. R. Mahoney will lecture on "The Human Body" and at the same hour in the Chalfoux building Dr. Francis Flinnigan will lecture on "Control of Tuberculosis."

The health exhibit has been a great success, and the persons responsible for it are much pleased with the result. The various parts of the exhibit have been of valuable help to families and arrangements are already under way to have it come again next year.

Dr. Tighe's Lecture

The lecture by Dr. M. A. Tighe yesterday afternoon at the exhibit, located on the fourth floor of the Chalfoux building, was very interesting and practical as well. His subject was "Cancer and the Wear and Tear Diseases of Adult Life. There was a large audience and the lecture, given in direct and carefully framed statements, proved very interesting. The stereopticon was handled by Merton A. Walker of the Chalfoux store.

Dr. Tighe said that one of the most apt illustrations he could give relative to the care of the body concerned the care of the teeth. Many persons, he said, annually, or semi-annually, visit a dentist and have their teeth carefully looked over with the idea of detecting any signs of decay, and of stopping the progress of such decay. However, very few persons ever go to a doctor until they have suffered for some time from something which they know little or nothing about. If they would visit the physician for an examination as they do the dentist much serious sickness might be averted.

He applied this particularly to cancer, and said that while there had been very material reduction in the number of cancer cases, there might easily be a greater one if people could consult physicians in time. Cancer, in its earlier stages, is curable, but, if allowed to grow, it is not.

Moderation is an excellent thing, said the speaker. There are exponents of violent exercise, and then there are those who believe in the taking of only a little exercise. Each one of these is wrong. The proper course is to follow the moderate manner.

One of the diseases of adult life which is frequently met with is hardening of the arteries. This comes from overwork. Many men suffer from this because they do not allow themselves sufficient relaxation. The man who reads his newspaper in the car or over the breakfast table at home is doing what he should not do. He is working mentally, at least, at times when his mind should relax. While many more men than women suffer from hardening of the arteries, more women than men suffer from cancer.

Dr. Tighe laid stress upon the value of fresh air in sleeping rooms, and of the proper mastication of food. He also said that cleaning the teeth is a very necessary thing. If one pursues this at a regular time daily a brush and warm water will suffice, but if it is done but infrequently then some paste is necessary to remove the dirt.

After the lecture one of the nurses present showed how to wash a child while in bed, and there was a very interesting demonstration of milk sterilization.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KETCH'S THEATRE

"The Coward," the gripping Triangle Ray-Bee picture in six parts, is compelling interest at the B. F. Ketch theatre, and will without a doubt pack the theatre several times today, for on Saturdays, it is to be the policy of the theatre to run continuously from early afternoon until late at night. Frank Keenan, one of the most notable of character actors, is seen in the role of a Virginia colonel who is willing to die for the South. Charles Ray, one of the youngest stars, does especially good work as the son of the colonel. Ray plays the part of the coward with wonderful fidelity to the physical and mental characteristics of such a part. "Crooked to the End," with Fred Mace and a competent company, in a two-part picture, which is a thrillingly packed with laughs and thrills and several shorter reels are to be shown, and Frank Bessler will sing the latest of Sam Harte's songs.

"Tomorrow," afternoon and evening, Francis X. Bushman, said to be the handsomest leading man on the stage, and Charles Ray, who also has many points of beauty, will be seen in a five-part drama called "Man and His Soul." Those who are at all familiar with the work of these two stars will want to see this picture, for it has a grip that is undeniable. Six other pictures, running from tragedy to comedy, will make the rest of the bill.

Tilly Marshall, who appeared here in "The City of Fine Feathers" and "The Only Girl," will be present at the theatre in the pictures—the first half of next week in "The Sable Larches," a new Triangle production. Marshall, Mayor O'Donnell's daughter, is a million picture girl, although his work as Soy, the half-breed Chinese, is quite remarkable. Marshall has been associated with such noted players as Nino, Modjeska, Fanny Davenport, E. H. Sothern and Arnold Daly. Another noted member of the cast is Marie Sade, who will be seen in "The Only Girl," which is a comedy. The play is a comedy, and who plays the dual roles of the "Cannery Brothers." When Joseph Jefferson, who played the dual roles of the "Cannery Brothers," was selected to play it for him, and he took to himself, as a result, a great deal of criticism. He is also to play the first half of the week there will be a brand new "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon, fresh from the studio of H. M. Warner, and a new Triangle picture, called "Fickle Fatty's Fall," in which Roscoe Arbuckle and Mabel Normand will appear. The picture is a comedy and is exceedingly funny. For the latter half of the week, beginning Thursday afternoon, Douglas Fairbanks in "The Lamb," will be featured. The picture was supervised by Griffith, the master-mind of motion pictures, and it shows many fine battle scenes, with Taqui Indians, Mexicans and a great deal of cavalry. It is a great picture, and with it will be presented several shorter ones.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

To deliberately become a thief rather than let the man who befriended him become the thief is the central plot of the five-act feature, "The Ragnan," starring Blanche Sweet at the Merrimack Square theatre during these last three days of this week. Today will also be the last occasion to see the clever Japanese stars, Sessue Hayakawa and his wife in the leading roles of the other five-act picture, "Alien Souls" at this theatre. The Chaplin comedy and other pictures will also be shown today for the last time.

Robert Edson will be seen at the Sunday concert tomorrow afternoon and evening at this theatre in "The Cave Man," the same play in which he won fame on the talking stage. It is the interesting story of a primitive man entering a cave, and the play is gripping in every scene. A large number of other feature photo-plays will also be shown on the screen of the Merrimack Square theatre at the Merrimack Square concert tomorrow afternoon and evening.

OWL THEATRE

"Fruits of Desire," a wonderful five-part photoplay featuring the famous matinee idol Robert Warwick, will again be the attraction at the Owl theatre today. Showing that happiness is not at all a thing to be had with riches, the story of the feature is one which is bound to please. Other excellent attractions will also be presented at the Owl today.

THE SPELLBINDER

That recall movement against Mayor O'Donnell, which was sprung in Association hall a few evenings ago at a meeting called for another and far more worthy purpose didn't get any farther than the meeting itself, and in all probability will soon be forgotten. Recall movements, as a general rule, concern the voting population exclusively, but in this case, according to report, a considerable number of those who so vociferously endorsed the condemnatory resolutions were not voters of Lowell, while some were not even citizens of America.

It would require a decidedly long stretch of imagination to interpret Mayor O'Donnell's remarks, as apparently no speaker did, when he said that the mayor at the Irish meeting had said that the English people were "no good." His Honor referred to the governmental relations between England and Ireland exclusively, and at no time referred to the English as a people.

Civil Service for Laborers

The following incident illustrates how the civil service law works as applied to laborers: A citizen of Lowell, of middle age, and who formerly was employed on the water department, a good capable workman, applied to Commissioner Morse a few days ago for work in the street department. "Have you worked for the city for six months since the civil service law went into effect?" asked the commissioner.

"No, I haven't worked for the city for four years," replied the applicant. "Then I can't put you to work, though I like you."

"Suppose I come to city hall Saturday and get my name on the list. Can you place me then?" asked the applicant. "If your name isn't on the list yet, you won't have a burglar's chance," said Commissioner Morse, and then he explained as follows: "If you get your name on the list Saturday your number will be something over 1000, for there are already that number of names of the civil service list for laborers. When I want help I make requisition for a certain number of men and the civil service commission sends me just double the number I want, from which to make a selection. Thus you see, in order to reach you I would have to put on over 500 men, which of course, I am not going to do."

Dismissing the civil service law further, Commissioner Morse said: "My experience with the civil service law as it is applied to laborers has taught me that it is not good for the city."

The man who comes first gets his name on the list regardless of his age or ability and Civil war veterans get the preference. If I send in a requisition for ten laborers for the ledge or for sewer work, I get back a list of 20 names. Out of that 20 there may not be three who are fit for the work I want.

Tested Over 60 Years

When a product has been used faithfully for more than 60 years—it must have real merit and it surely must do what people say it will. Minard's Liniment was first prescribed by Dr. Minard in his private practice for giving instant relief to all sufferers from pain of every kind and for cuts and bruises. It is sold by all druggists.

It has made thousands of friends who have used it and given it to others when suffering from sprains, bruises, sore hands and sore feet, rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia and backache, and it is your protection too, if you keep it always in the home ready for instant use. It is an antiseptic with wonderful healing power.

want them for. But the law says I must make my selection from those names or not at all. If I place a man to work who is not properly registered, the civil service commission which has a man here looking over the pay rolls every week, promptly gets after me and I have to fire the man or get in bad with the state authorities. The civil service is a fine thing inasmuch as it provides a lot of fat jobs at the state house for certain people, but as for helping out a city toward its labor efficiency it is a frost."

A few days ago Supt. Kernan sent in a requisition for laborers for the park department, and on the eligible list came the name of the man at the head was 75 years old, and the second man 65.

The Health Exhibit

When those who had to do with the formal opening of the public health exhibit arrived at Colonial hall, on the night set therefor, they experienced a few moments of disappointment and discouragement for there wasn't a corporal's guard in attendance at the hall.

At the time for starting the meeting, someone reported that there was a good sized crowd at the exhibit rooms at the corner of Merrimack and John sts. whereupon Mayor O'Donnell remarked: "Let's go down there and open it."

His Honor was apparently of the fact that if the mountain wouldn't come to Mohammed, there were no ropes on the ladder, and accordingly, headed by the chief executive of the city, the little procession of promoters of the public health, wended its way, as the funeral reporters would say, down Merrimack street to John, where they found a first class audience in attendance, and where the exhibit was formally declared open to the public. Those who attended the first evening's exercises were convinced of the inestimable value of the exhibit in educating the public in the means of keeping in good health, and they enthusiastically gave enthusiastic boosters of the new movement. Since the opening day there have been large gatherings at all of the places at which the exhibit is in progress. Those who have not as yet availed themselves of the privilege of visiting the exhibit should make an effort to attend today. It is well worth one's while. Such free education is one of the greatest benefits to the entire community and should be encouraged.

New Street Car Rule

It's a poor day when no one has any fault to find with the local street railway system or methods. Yesterday a rotund gentleman who for some time past has made a practice of entering his car by the front vestibule, a friendly-disposed motorman opening the door for him, was much disturbed when upon about to make his daily entrance that way, he found the door barred against him, while the motorman nodded to him to enter by the rear door. Upon seeking an explanation of this unusual conduct on the part of the motorman he was informed that a new rule had been posted forbidding passengers to enter or leave the cars by the front vestibule except in Merrimack square, or at the end of a line. "How is a passenger going to keep track of all these new rules?" demanded the irate gentleman, "unless the company sends a few cents in advertising, to notify the public of them. Perhaps if they would only take the newspapers into their confidence regarding their rules, in consideration of the fact that they are too poor to buy advertising, they might give it to them gratis. But they stick up a sign somewhere behind closed doors in Paige street and expect the public to look it up." Having had his five cents worth of kicking the gentleman at this point subsided.

Crawling Through Pipes

Says Nola Bene in the Courier-Citizen: "We should like to give the once-over to that venturesome engineer who proposes to squirm through a long pipe that is only 18 inches in diameter, looking for leaks. He might turn into an obstruction instead."

It's the old story of going out of town instead of patronizing home labor. Commissioner Putnam ought to insist that the contractor give the preference in the matter to Lowell citizens, especially with "Chicken" Brady and little Tommy Gallagher both working at the filtration plant. When Engineer Rice has finished his investigation within the pipe, he'll have to be pulled out heels foremost, and as the Courier-Citizen intimates, he might get stuck in there. But if the job were given to either Messrs. Brady or Gallagher they'd be able "to turn right round and come right out again," if anything within wasn't O. K. Seeing that the water department is short of funds and Commissioner Morse refuses to be "held up" with any exorbitant water bill, wouldn't it be a good idea to have Engineer Rice's pipe-crawling stunt as a sort of public exhibition and charge an admission, the receipts to help relieve the stranded condition of the strong box of the department?

BUSY BUILDING SEASON

Great Activity Throughout the City—All the Building Trades Rushing at All Points

Scores of new buildings are being erected in this city and suburbs, and this means that few craftsmen in the building line are out of employment. It is generally conceded that Lowell will experience this year one of the biggest building booms since the war. One of the districts to undergo a very big change within the next few months is Middlesex street from Central street to the railroad station. It is expected that within two or three weeks work on the ten-story cement and steel manufacturing building near the corner of King street will be started, and the erection of this building, it is believed will lead some of the property owners along the street to follow suit in tearing down old shacks and erecting in their stead modern office buildings.

Another step toward improving Middlesex street has been taken by the Crown Theatre Co., a recently organized corporation which has for president Samuel Orbach, one of the co-owners of the Owl theatre, who will build a modern theatre at 72 Middlesex street. The building will be five stories, 44 ft. wide by 97 ft. wide and will cost approximately $25,000. The building will be known as the Crown building and its auditorium will contain 500 seats, while 300 other seats will be placed in the gallery. The roof will be of pitch style and will be covered with asphalt and concrete. Part of the roof will be movable and its operation will be controlled by machinery. The site of the new building is opposite Webster street.

C. W. Johnson & Son are developing a large tract of land at East Chelmsford just across the city line. They are building thereon several cottages. About a half-dozen new houses have been built so far and plans call for probably twice as many.

Arthur Jeannotte is contemplating the idea of erecting a three-tenement house on his vacant land next to 205 White street. Each tenement will contain five rooms and it is expected that work will be started next month.

Avila Sawyer has converted a stable into a seven-room cottage at 203 White street. The finishing touch is now being put on and the new house which is equipped with a steam heating system and electric lights will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks.

A three-story building is being erected at the corner of School and Liberty streets for Mrs. Josephine McKenned. The street floor will be occupied by a store, while the other floors will contain five-room tenements with pantry and bath. The building will be 27 feet by 53 feet and will cost about $1800.

Expensive alterations are being made at the coal elevator of Charles Lajole in Gorham street. The trestles in the coal yard will be replaced, the new ones to be 350 feet in length. Other improvements will also be made and it is figured that the entire job will cost about $5,000.

Louis Poissant is having a two-tenement house built at 135-137 Dalton street. Each tenement will contain six rooms with pantry and bath and the building will cost about $2500.

A seven-room cottage is being constructed at 105 Hoyt avenue for E. A. Smith here at a cost of about $2500.

Charles P. Witham has started the erection of several bungalows in Putnam avenue and Hoyt avenue. Each bungalow will contain eight rooms with pantry and bath and will cost about $2500.

The barn of Joseph Kew in the rear of 35 Washington street is being converted into a cottage and the cost of the change will be about $800.

Commander Munroe read the orders for the escort to Post 185, May 25, to attend services at the Calvary Baptist church at 10:30 a. m. At 1:30 p. m. the camp will meet at Post 155 hall to escort the post to the First Congregational church where the general exercises will be held.

A unanimous vote of thanks was extended to Brother Benjamin F. Parshley for a gift of a mystery box. Great interest is being taken in the observance of Memorial day and a large turnout of the members is expected. Commander Munroe appointed the following members as a committee for the banquet: P.C. S. A. Pickering, James E. Webster, P.C. Wilson S. Hall, P.C. Walter E. Alwood, Charles Foster, Jr., P.C. Henry J. Draper and P.C. Albert C. Blaisdell.

A well attended meeting of Division 1, A.O.H., was held Thursday night in the Hibernian hall. Several reports were read and accepted. One new member was initiated and two propositions were received. The quarterly report of Treasurer Shedy showed that the financial condition of the division is very good. The call for the state convention from the state secretary was read and at the next meeting two delegates to attend the convention will be named. James Lyons, one of the oldest Hibernians in this city, told interesting stories of the past which were listened to with the utmost attention by the members. SILLY COLLEGE ANTICS

It may be true that our comic papers do not come up to the standards of those published abroad, but then we have the American college. It would be a tragic error to look upon our higher institutions of learning as comic institutions, but who can deny that they supply an original brand of comedy when the season is slack elsewhere?

Two instances that have come to light recently will serve to point the moral. If they do not adorn a tale: A zealous follower of Henry Ford among the students of Dartmouth came out in the college publication "Jack-o-Lantern" in rather caustic criticism of one of the faculty because of his preparedness views. The faculty promptly suspended the offending student. In spite of a manly apology. Some commentators think the action was justified in order that the immemorial dignity of college professors might be maintained, but most think the resentment of the authorities more foolish than the article that aroused it.

Still more humorous is an incident that brings Yale into the news. An elaborate production of the German opera "Die Walküre," has been planned to take place in the Yale bowl, with Madame Galski in one of the leading roles. Walter F. Carter or "Dutch" Carter, formerly Yale pitcher, suddenly developed a patriotic brain storm and, remembering that Galski's husband has been indicted as an alleged German spy, he sent the following protest to the Yale Daily News:

"I understand that Mrs. Galski is going to sing a German opera in the bowl. Her husband is under indictment as a German spy, and as a Yale man and especially as an American I want to protest against her engagement to sing at a national institution, but the recent utterances of Secretary Stokes and Professor Phelps and the engagement of Mrs. Galski made me sore.

"I don't suppose you will publish this because it is too direct, but I hope you will."

Yale, true to its reputation for sanity and common-sense did not heed the protest and the agitation is proving excellent advertising for Madame Galski, who, true to her type, rather likes to be talked about. One of the undergraduates who has kept his sense of humor in spite of university routine has sent the following satirical protest to the Yale News:

"Sir—I understand that Hook McGlock has been engaged to sing in a German opera in the bowl. I have it on accurate information that McGlock's wife is under indictment for stealing three pairs of college running pants from Yale in China while singing as a laundress. As a Yale man and especially as an American I want to protest against Hook's engagement to sing in a Yale function.

Yale in China is of immense importance to the modern China, but the recent utterances of Kung, Fish and Leo, with "I'm buying fundamentalism" in English grammar and insultingly insulting to the person addressed) together with the engagement of Hook make me sore.

"I don't suppose you will publish this because it is too direct, but I hope you will."

Yours till the pants come home,
On Li Wun Lung.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Carter will read this burlesque comment and that he will then decide to see the great dramatic production which will not interfere in the slightest with his self-respect as an American.

The public looks to the greater colleges and universities for a sensible discussion of world events, and misplaced zeal in any cause seems out of place there. Our schools have drawn and will continue to draw from all the races for their supply of students, and they should be broad enough to accept the best from any country while keeping absolutely American to the core. In spite of the action of the unbalanced few, we feel sure that the great majority of Dartmouth or Yale students could in one week hear Henry Ford, William Jennings Bryan, Theodore Roosevelt, John Masfield, Lord Northcliffe, Madame Galski and Professor Munsterberg, and be all the better for it. Drawing the racial line in this country is a dangerous game, and the colleges should not forget it.

THE HIDDEN MEANING

Asserting that "some manufacturers have made a very good profit even with the present high price of dyestuffs," one of the leading textile papers adds: "It is hardly fair to other manufacturers to keep prices at low points, although there is nothing which can be done unless each individual manufacturer is willing to base his quotations upon the market prices for raw materials."

This advice seems innocent enough until analyzed, and then the possibilities look sinister indeed, from the point of view of the public. Already most cotton and woolen products have soared in price, some of them to an extraordinary extent, but evidently some manufacturers would like to boost prices a little more. They fear that the excuse of the high price of raw materials has not been made the most of, and while some among them refuse to be led, prices will have to keep to a reasonable figure. The public cannot expect that manufactured articles will remain stationary when raw materials soar in price, but there is something about the above which does not ring true.

On the other hand there are some textile manufacturers who may have had a large supply of essentials in stock when the war broke out, and these are consequently able to sell at a lower figure than the majority. It is not likely that any of them will sell so low as to constitute a menace to the trade, but they should be content with a reasonable profit, and should not, as other industries have done, make the most of a public necessity. When the war is over we may discover that the Chicago packers and the wheat owners were not the only groups that saw in war's disorganization a chance to make the public dance to a tune they cared to play.

When people score the government for anti-trust and similar activities, it is well to remember what would happen if all manufacturers were swayed by a combination in which all should do just as those at the head dictate. Not the least of war's horrors is the greed which crops out among men who adore the dollar over all.

HIS MAJESTY THE BABY

This is meant to appeal to all who have or have had babies; to all who hope to have babies; to all who love babies. Is there anybody left out?

No feature of the health exhibit which has done such a great educational work in this city for the past few days was emphasized more than care of the child, and fittingly so, for care of the child is among the fundamental needs of society. Two of the watchwords of the age are efficiency and conservation, and unless applied to the very root of society, all other movements will ultimately fail. The state has nothing of more importance than its citizens, and the babies of today will be the citizens of tomorrow. Hence the interest which all social service, human welfare, and humanitarian movements are taking in the proper care and conservation of child life.

Each child born into the world has a right to life and happiness and it can have neither unless it has health. Yet in all of our large cities how many children are permitted to grow up without a proper regard for cleanliness, comfort, or sanitation?

Until they are able to make their wants known, babies should be watched as one would watch some marvelous delicate mechanism that is liable to fail at any time for lack of proper treatment. The most important considerations are absolute cleanliness, pure air, appropriate food and sleep. Hours of play and hours of sleep should be regular, and time of feeding and baths no less so. Eyes, ears, nose and mouth should be kept clean by constant attention, and fresh air is as important as nourishing food.

The milk guild in this city is doing a splendid work through its district nurses and dispensary consultations to educate mothers in the modifying of milk and other things necessary for the care of children. Similar things are being done in most cities and it is hoped that within the next five years infant mortality will be reduced one-half throughout the United States.

COMBINATION FOR TRADE

When one thinks or speaks of German foreign trade or English foreign trade, does it suggest a number of rival German or English concerns competing with each other? No. Rather does it give the impression of a national trade in which all concerned keep the interest of their country to the forefront.

When one speaks of American foreign trade, it is entirely different. We have not yet got our extension of commerce down to such a science that we sink lesser considerations and act all together with a single purpose in mind. Until we learn to do away with abnormal rivalry and trust domination, we shall not have the success in foreign trade that is within our grasp.

A recent report of the federal trade commission which was appointed to co-operate with American business points out that American manufacturers must co-operate in exporting if they would successfully meet foreign manufacturers in foreign markets after the war. It is highly possible that commission houses may be established in connection with our exports, and that all who manufacture goods for outside markets will act as a unit for the expansion of American commerce. Healthy rivalry is essential, but the ideals of the nation must come first if a democracy is to meet a supreme state or monarchy on equal ground.

LIVING WITH BEAUTY

It was Walt Whitman who saw so much beauty and mystery in leaves of grass that they contained for him all the secrets of time and eternity. He and others of his persuasion learned to look deep into nature and to marvel at the wonders that no man has ever understood. Yet, how easily most of us pass through life and how little do we care for the marvels displayed on all sides.

now the skies are filled with the soft blues of spring and the filmy clouds trail by in silver argosies. Violets and tender anemones are abloom in the woods. Trees are garbed in soft green veiling, and over head and under foot beauty has written her name. And it is not only the eye that is gratified; spring life is vocal and the notes of many birds ring out from shady places. It is no time for musing in art galleries where dusty canvases shine out from golden frames. There is a witchery in every walk in the open that only those who look through the eyes of the soul, but it is a balm of Gilead for heart and head.

SEIZING THE MAILS

America's protest against the seizure of American mail by England is based on the following plain article of the Hague convention of 1907, which is accepted as international law: "The postal correspondence of neutrals or belligerents, whatever its official or private character may be, found on the high seas on board a neutral or enemy ship, is inviolable. If the ship is detained, the correspondence is forwarded by the captor with the least possible delay."

The sharp note which it is said the government is to send to England may bring some concessions, but there are doubts of it.

England, it is true, has made some valuable discoveries through opening the mails but that does not justify her action and it must be stopped as an open violation of international law. On this, as on the case of the packers, she will have to back down.

STILL THE BOXES

The Sun has been calling the attention of some central stores to their unsightly and dangerous practice of piling up boxes and packing cases on the sidewalks near their place of business. In some instances they have not yet learned to do better. This might be all right in the village variety store but it is surely out of place in the heart of a great city. Sooner or later there will be a serious accident to the children who come to cart them off, and then the municipal regulations will have to be enforced to the letter. From the commendation that has come to The Sun for its pointed suggestions we know that the police are keeping an eye on some establishments, and a few store proprietors may be shown that they are offending not only against civic standards but against the law as well.

He Didn't Need Any

Handicapped but undaunted, the actors in the touring "dramers" were doing their best, but their efforts were spoiled by the rude comments of a small boy at the back of the hall.

At last after some of his best "scenes" had been spoiled, the hero hissed melodramatically: "Ladies and gentlemen, five years ago I lost a monkey. Tonight it has turned up again at the back of the hall." The applause and laughter which greeted this brilliant play had hardly died away, when the voice of the insulter was heard to ask blandly: "What did you do with the organ?"

Mother's Way Best

Little Willie felt indisposed, and the family doctor ordered him to take a powder. "Come on, dear," said mother, coaxingly, when the powder arrived. "Take this; it will make you quite well at once."

"Don't want to!" wailed Willie, backing away from the teaspoon. "Don't want any medicine!" "Oh, Willie," said mother, said reproachfully, as she drew the small boy near to her, "you've never heard me complain about a little powder, have you?"

"No, and neither would I," was William's startling reply, "if I could just put it on my face as you do. But I have to swallow it!"

A Popular Joke

George Fitch, the Illinois humorist, had his own ideas about prison reform schemes. He expressed his attitude one day while discussing Thomas Mott Osborne's humanitarian efforts.

"Osborne's idea of making work out all right," said Fitch, "but whenever I hear of a warden holding surprise parties and rainbow teas in his penitentiary I think of what happened when Tim Cullinan, was chief of police in Junction City, Kan."

In that fact was the whole police force. He had 11 prisoners on his hands, and was anxious to get rid of them, for they were a heavy responsibility, Tim having to keep watch over the actions of all Junction City.

"When you feed the critters," he said to the janitor one day, "just accidentally leave the door open and get out of sight for a while."

"But times were hard and picking up a living outside wasn't so easy. Tim hadn't figured on that, but he did when he came back that evening and found the 11 prisoners still there and seven more who had slipped in while the jailer wasn't looking. Living was better and cheaper inside the jail than outside."

To a Suffragette

The following acrostic, apropos of something or somebody we know not of, was read at the banquet enjoyed at Paige's on Thursday night by the girls of the bonus and production departments of the U. S. Cartridge company:

S is a suffragette, Alice by name,

The Dog

I've never known a dog to wag
His tail in gloom he didn't fear.
Nor quit his old-time friend to lag
At some more influential hear.
The yellowest cur I ever knew
Was to the boy who loved him, true.

I've never known a dog to show
Halfway devotion to his friend,
To seek a kinder man to know
Or richer, but unto the end
The humblest dog I ever knew
Was to the man that loved him, true.

I've never known a dog to fake
After for a present gain
A false display of love to make,
Some little favor to attain.
I've never known a Prince or Spot
That seemed to be what he was not.

But I have known a dog to fight
With all his strength to shield a Friend,
And whether wrong or whether right,
To stick with him until the end.
And I have known a dog to lick
The hand of him that men would Kick.

And I have known a dog to bear
Sturdy courage from day to day
With him who had been glad to share
His bread and meat along the way.
No dog, however mean or rude,
Is guilty of ingratitude.

The dog is listed with the dumb.
No voice has he to speak his creed.
His messages to humans come
By faithful conduct and by deed.
He shows, as seldom mortals do,
A high ideal of being true.

IMPURE MILK KILLS TWO

TWO DEAD AND 40 ILL IN WATER-TOWN—COW WITH INVISIBLE GROWTH CAUSED TROUBLE

BOSTON, May 20.—Two Watertown residents, Mrs. Thomas Nally of Boyd street and Thomas F. Chambers, 39, of 68 Pearl street, are dead from drinking impure milk, and 40 other Watertown people are seriously ill from the same cause.

The Watertown health officials say they have traced the trouble to one cow in the herd of a local milkman, who is not held in the least responsible. The cow was afflicted with a growth which was not visible to the milkman, but which affected the quality of the milk.

It was on Sunday that the milk trouble was first noticed, and prompt action was taken. The cow to which the impure milk was traced has been taken to a bacteriological station yesterday and will be slaughtered and examined today.

Many of those made ill by the milk obtained it in milk shacks from a drug store in Watertown. It was there that Chambers got his fatal draft of the liquid, and his brother, Henry, who was with him at the time, was taken ill also, and is now in a serious condition.

The bill provides that certain instructors employed principally in the Concord reformatory shall be eligible to retire on two-thirds pay, when they have completed 25 years in the service of the commonwealth. Those advocating it contend that the legislature of these considerations the Lowell legislator has announced that he will oppose this pension bill, as well as all others, until such time as the commonwealth establishes a pension system for ordinary laborers. NEW LONDON TOO FAST

Harry Lord's baseball aggregation, which is struggling to hold a place in the first division of the league, was outplayed by the speedy New London league's leaders in a fast game at Spalding park yesterday afternoon. The score, 4 to 1, does not represent the degree of superiority as at least two of the visitors' tallies would not have been scored had the local team's fielding been better.

Buncey Hearn, a big southpaw who toured the country with the Glants a couple of years ago, was instrumental in the defeat of the Lowell team. Hearn has been mowing 'em down all along the circuit and he did not allow the Lowell pitchers to interfere with his record. The seven hits obtained off him were well scattered and but for an error by Weiser in the first inning Lowell would have been blanked.

Horsey, who worked for Lowell, showed much more than he has all season. Bases on balls were few and fast between in the game, Horsey handing out two passes and Hearn not any.

Together with Hearn's pitching the speed of the New London team was very conspicuous. Cooney along with Gene McCann the players awaited themselves of every opening for an advantage and at times seemed to bewilder the Lowell players by their speed.

First Inning
The visitors went out in one, two, three order in the first inning. Russell the lead off man, fell a victim to Horsey's puzzling delivery and went out on strikes. Dowd was second out on a fly to Stimpson in left field. Kane made a beautiful running catch of Weiser's long fly to center.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Kane reached second base when Weiser dropped the Lowellman's drive to left field. Lord went to first after being hit by a pitched ball. After two unsuccessful attempts to bunt Stimpson sent a grounder to Russell and the latter threw to Dowd forcing Lord at second. Kane going to third on the play. Kane scored the first run of the game on Barrows' drive to Rodriguez. Downey went out on a fly to Becker who caught the ball near the right field foul line.

1 run, no hits, 1 error.

Score—Lowell 1, New London 0.

Second Inning
New London evened up matters in the second inning when Rodriguez sent a bunt to Torphy's fumble, the latter making the error as a result of being too anxious to nail his man at the plate.

Whitehouse sent a grounder to Downey and was out at first. Rodriguez followed with a single to left. Barrows misjudged Becker's fly and nearly when he got under the ball he dropped it. Rodriguez going to third and Becker to second. O'Connell drew a free pass and the bases were filled. With the infield playing close, Fish hit an easy grounder to Torphy, but the latter in his anxiety to get the man at the plate fumbled the ball and Rodriguez scored. Hearn hit an easy grounder to Horsey and Becker was forced out at the plate. Russell was third out on a fly to Barrows.

One run, 1 hit, 2 errors.

Munn sent a fly to right field which Becker had little difficulty in taking care of and Torphy went out. Dowd to Rodriguez. Kilhullen singled to right field but Horsey closed the inning by striking out.

No runs, 1 one hit, no errors.

Score: Lowell 1, New London 1.

Third Inning
Neither side scored in the third inning. Dowd hit a grounder to Lord who threw him out at first. Downey got Weiser's fly in back of second. Whitehouse rapped the leather to right field for a two-bagger. Barrows made a good attempt to get the sphere, touching the ball but being unable to hold it. Rodriguez fled to Kane in left center.

No runs, 1 one hit, no errors.

Kane opened the latter half of the third with a single through the pitcher and went to second on Lord's fly to Stimpson was second out on a fly to Becker. Barrows hit a high fly to O'Connell and was the third out.

No runs, 1 one hit, no errors.

Score: Lowell 1, New London 1.

Fourth Inning
The visitors forged to the front in the fourth when O'Connell, after making a two baggar scored on Hearn's single. Lowell registered a runner on egg. Becker fled out to Barrows and O'Connell followed with a two baggar. The right field fence. Fish hit a fly to left field. Barrows made a fly to left field. Barrows made a fly to left field. Barrows made a fly to left field.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Score—Lowell 1, New London 2.

Fifth Inning
Russell opened the fifth with a single and Dowd followed with a strike-out. Weiser sent a grounder to Torphy who legged second and threw to first for a double play.

No runs, 1 hit, no errors.

Kilhullen popped a fly to Hearn and Torphy struck out. Kane singled to right field but a moment later was out trying to steal second. Fish to Dowd.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Score: Lowell 1, New London 2.

Sixth Inning
New London added another run in the sixth inning. Becker scoring on O'Connell's single. Lowell failed to send a man across the plate. Whitehouse went out on a grounder to Munn. Rodriguez hit a grounder to Torphy and was out at first. Becker singled to left field and stole second and scored on O'Connell's single to left. Stimpson made a nice return of the ball but Kilhullen failed to touch the runner. Lord made a one-hand stop of Fish's grounder and was out at first.

One run, no hits, no errors.

Lord sent a grounder to Dowd and was retired at first. Stimpson made a pretty single to left field, and Barrows

SHUTOUTS IN E. LEAGUE

LOWELL, NEW LONDON AND NEW HAVEN DIVIDE HONORS OF 17 WHITEWASHES THUS FAR

Seventeen of the 63 games played in the Eastern league to date have resulted in whitewash scores. The cleanup honors are equally shared by Lowell, New Haven and New London. Each team has used the brush on three occasions. Springfield, Lawrence and Bridgeport have scored two shutouts each, while Portland and Worcester have figured in one shut-out victory each. Lynn and Hartford have not been able to keep its opponents away from the plate in a single game this season.

The three shutouts registered by the New Haven club were the results of some classy pitching by Alsworth, the recruit sent to Murphy for further seasoning by Connie Mack. The Quaker youngster has been burning up the league with his speed and general pitching ability and right now looks like the find of the season. He leads the circuit in shutouts. His first wash day performance was pulled at the expense of the Portland team, in New Haven. In addition to holding the Duffs to three hits, he fanned seven men and won his game, 2 to 0. Worcester fell sadly before his curves, losing a 5 to 0 game, in which Alsworth allowed the Boosters only one hit. The third shutout registered by the New Haven youngster was in Portland, Wednesday afternoon, when he won a 2 to 0 game. He registered 10 strikeouts in the three games and in addition allowed only six hits. This is without a doubt the best the league has to offer in the pitching line, in fact the best that any other league in the country could serve up for the benefit of the gossip leagues.

Matt Zeiser, the veteran of the Lowell team, has been in the line-up this season. He has pitched two of the local's shutout victories. Green and King figured in the other. The crack Bridgeport hurler, who looks up like a good prospect, has won two shutout games.

Fuller, the spitball heaver and Pearson, the veteran slaban of the circuit, are credited with Lawrence's shutout wins. The three shutouts credited to New London have been pitched by Hearn, Reiger and Portune respectively.

Hal Justis, Worcester castoff, pitched Springfield to a 2 to 0 victory early in the season and Powers, the Iron man, worked Lowell for a 1 to 0 victory the other day, which accounts for the two cleanup wins credited to Flynn's crew. Dick Durning, a left hander, whom Hamilton had this spring and cut loose, is credited with the only shutout victory that Portland has figured in, while Benny Van Dyke pitched the only game in which the Worcester held their opponents runless. Each game won by these two southpaw heavers was landed by a 1 to 0 score. Three of the shutouts have been won by one run, six by two runs, two by three runs, two by four runs, one by five runs, one by six runs, one by 12 runs and one by a margin of 19 runs.

CHICAGO, May 20.—Jake Daubert, Brooklyn's first baseman, is leading the National league, according to averages published here today and including games played last Wednesday. His percentage is .384. Fred Williams, Chicago, though batting under .300 leads in home runs with six, is tied with Zimmerman, Chicago, in total bases at 60 and is tied with Groh, Cincinnati, in runs scored at twenty.

Carey, Pittsburgh, continues to lead the base stealers, having 13 to his credit. Boston has taken first place in club batting with .372. National league batters, hitting .300 or better in at least half the games are:

Daubert, Brooklyn, .384; Zimmerman, Chicago, .358; Robertson, New York, .357; Karider, New York, .336; Schulte, Chicago, .334; Chase, Cincinnati, .333; Hinchman, Pittsburgh, .333; Gowdy, Boston, .329; Burns, Philadelphia, .328; Knapp, New York, .309; Gray, Philadelphia, .306; Stock, Philadelphia, .305; Doyle, New York, .301; Cuthaw, Brooklyn, .301; Snyder, St. Louis, .301.

Ranked according to earned runs per game made off them the ten leading pitchers of the National league, including those who have taken part in at least five games, are:

Dell, Brooklyn, won 2, lost 2; Kautler, Pittsburgh, won 2, lost 4; Ames, St. Louis, won 3, lost 2; Alexander, Philadelphia, won 5, lost 2.

Stimmy's throw and received a mild call down from Manager Lord.

Lowell goes to Lynn Monday and plays a return engagement with Peper's team here Tuesday.

McCann is calling for "pep" from his men all the time. As soon as he entered the field yesterday and found some of the players taking it easy he burred up a couple of idle balls and started some batting and fielding practice.

Torphy allowed New London to score its first run by an unfortunate mis-play. With the bases full, Fish hit an easy grounder. "Red" fanned off the ball as soon as it struck the bat, but he was too anxious to pick it up and fumbled. He figured in a fast double play later in the game, taking a hard hit grounder, touching second and then making a quick and accurate throw to Munn.

Fish, the New London catcher, is playing a fine game. Fish caught Manchester in the old New England league and is only a youngster. He is also one of the smallest catchers in the league, but he is delivering the goods.

Included in the New London lineup were the following men who have been in the big leagues and are being coached by Good Weiser, Whitehouse, Rodriguez, Becker, Fish and Hearn.

When Greenhalge appeared at the plate for Munn yesterday's umpire Stafford announced: "Yesterday's batting order was changed. Greenhalge did not hit, he struck out. Stafford meant that Greenhalge was at bat for Munn."

Fred Reiger, who is a brother of the pitcher, said: "I am a brother of Johnnie Reiger, formerly with the Lowell-Manchester combination and now with Bridgeport. Fred started in the game with the New London team of the old Connecticut league and was then taken up by Fall River some years ago when 'Little Jawn' O'Brien was manager. 'Jawn' used to say that Reiger was a fine pitcher, but the best man in the whole wide world. 'Why,' said Little Jawn, 'he's so ———— he won't even coach from. He has this 'Little Jawn' idea of activity. He was to start something when the game was breaking right."

Weiser's wallow to deep right-center in the eighth was some cork. Kane started after it with the crack of the bat, but the ball sailed way over his head.

Kane's batting and fast work in the field has been a feature of the games here this week. Kane usually bats from the left side of the plate, but with Hearn, a port-side, pitching, he changed over yesterday and slammed out three bingles. He got his best time up reaching second in the first inning on an error.

Jesse Burkett stepped to the plate in place of Murphy in the ninth inning of yesterday's Lawrence-Hartford game. He cracked out a single. Jesse admits that he is too old to run bases, however, and called upon Art Lavigne to take his place at first. If Jesse intends to use himself as a pinch hitter he will be classed as a playing manager and will be included in the 14 men limit for the team.

Neal Ball, manager of the Bridgeport club, has signed up Pitcher Geo. McQuillan formerly of the Toronto club of the International league.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

All Clocks on the British R. R. Will Be Pushed Ahead One Hour

LONDON, May 20.—The hands on all clocks on British railroads, postoffice newspaper offices, public institutions and other places where business is conducted throughout the night will be pushed forward at 2 o'clock tomorrow morning to 3 o'clock in accordance with the daylight saving act. The general public will put their clocks and watches one hour ahead before going to bed tonight or will awake to find themselves late for breakfast. The new schedule will run until Sept. 30, when clocks will be stopped for an hour. Factories, banks, stores, trains, theatres and restaurants will all conform to the new time schedule. There is a small old-fashioned section of the people who have decided the daylight saving scheme, but they will be practically forced into line by its acceptance in all public institutions. The only exception will be in the parks in the large cities which will be open an hour later to allow people the benefit of more fresh morning air for two Sunday mornings was selected for the change because fewer trains are running then than at any other time during the week.

CHRISTIANA, via London, May 20.—The legislature has passed the daylight saving bill, advancing the clocks one hour. The new regulation goes into effect on May 22.

DAY NURSERY BUILDING PURCHASED THROUGH BOUNTY OF F. F. AYER

VIEW OF THE BUILDING PURCHASED FOR THE DAY NURSERY.

The Lowell Day Nursery association held a special meeting yesterday afternoon to take action on the transfer of the property at 13 Paige street, the gift of Frederick Fanning Ayer to the association, and on the matter of the seizure of the property in Kirk street by the city.

A committee composed of Dr. Moses G. Parker, James Gilbert Hill and D. F. Carroll was authorized to make the necessary transfers and the president was authorized to execute in its name and behalf a declaration that the gift by Mr. Ayer will be held in trust.

The Sun today presents to its readers the picture of the future home of the nursery at 13 Paige street. Many interior alterations will have to be made before it can be used by the association, but as soon as the present tenant vacates the premises the work of making the necessary changes will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible.

For over a quarter of a century the Lowell Day Nursery association has been caring every working day for the children of hard working mothers. All children, regardless of race, creed, color or age, have been welcomed. So far as able the mothers contribute to the expense, but the small amounts received are not sufficient to support the home. Ten cents a day is the usual charge for a child.

Up to the first of May there were two nurseries, one located at 64 Kirk street

The Lowell Day Nursery association about $7000. The officers of the association are as follows: Moses Greeley Parker, M. D., pres.; J. Gilbert Hill, treas.; Mrs. Charles M. Williams, clerk; Mrs. Samuel T. Brown, Paul Butler, Daniel F. Carroll, Mrs. J. L. Chaffoux, Mrs. Wm. P. Lawler, Mrs. Lewis E. MacBrayne, Philip S. Marden, Mrs. Mary E. Plunkett, Mrs. N. W. Peabody, Mrs. Arthur D. Prince, Mrs. H. H. Robbins, Mrs. Julian Talbot, Mrs. Mary Greeley Morrison.

Mr. Ayer's generosity in endowing several Lowell institutions has cleared them of debt and placed them on a strong financial basis. His gifts have been especially beneficial to the Lowell General Hospital in which Mr. Ayer takes a great interest. His gifts to the hospital amounted in all to about $394,286.17. For the past ten or eleven years he has made annual gifts of $5000 for the benefit of the tuberculosis camp in connection with the hospital.

Indeed if it had not been for the generosity of Mr. Ayer it is doubtful if the Lowell Textile school would enjoy the high distinction it does at the present time. In all Mr. Ayer has made gifts of $166,000 to the school. The Ayer home in Pawtucket street exists through Mr. Ayer's generosity. The O'Leary home in 1910 received a gift of $1500 from Mr. Ayer and many other institutions have also been recipients of large donations from Mr. Ayer.

THE SPELLBINDER

That recall movement against Mayor O'Donnell, which was sprung in Association hall a few evenings ago at a clandestine meeting for another and far more worthy purpose didn't get any farther than the meeting itself, and in all probability will soon be forgotten. Recall movements, as a general rule, concern the voting population exclusively, but in this case, according to report, a considerable number of those who so vociferously endorsed the condemnatory resolutions were not voters of Lowell, while some were not even citizens of America.

It would require a decidedly long stretch of imagination to interpret Mayor O'Donnell's remarks, as apparently one speaker did, when he said that the mayor at the Irish meeting had said that the English people were "no good." His Honor referred to the governmental relations between England and Ireland exclusively, and at no time referred to the English as a people.

Civil Service for Laborers

The following incident illustrates how the civil service law works as applied to laborers: A citizen of Lowell, of middle age, and who formerly was employed on the water department; a good capable workman, applied to Commissioner Morse a few days ago for work in the street department. "Have you worked for the city for six months since the civil service law went into effect?" asked the commissioner. "No, I haven't worked for the city for four years," replied the applicant. "Then I can't put you to work, though I'd like to."

"Suppose I come to city hall Saturday and get my name on the list. Can you place me then?" asked the applicant.

"If your name isn't on the list yet, you won't have a burglar's chance," said Commissioner Morse, and then he explained as follows: "If you get your name on the list Saturday your number will be something over 1000, for there are already that number of names of the civil service list for laborers. When I want help I make requisition for a certain number of men and the civil service commission sends me just double the number I want, from which to make a selection. Thus, you see, in order to reach you I would have to put on over 2000 men, which of course, I am not going to do."

Discussing the civil service law further, Commissioner Morse said: "My experience with the civil service law as it is applied to laborers has taught me that it is no good for the city. The man who comes first gets his name on the list regardless of his age or ability and Civil war veterans get the preference. If I send in a requisition for ten laborers for the ledge or for sewer work, I get back a list of 20 names. Out of that 20 there may not be three who are fit for the work I want."

New Street Car Rule

It's a poor day when no one has any fault to find with the local street railway system or methods. Yesterday a rotund gentleman who for some time has made a practice of entering the front vestibule of a trolley, and who was much disturbed when upon about to make his daily entrance that way, he found the door barred against him, while the motorman nodded to him to enter by the rear door. Upon seeking an explanation of this unusual conduct on the part of the motorman he was informed that a new rule had been entered or leave the cars by the front vestibule except in Merrimack square, or at the end of a line. "How is a passenger going to keep track of all these new rules," demanded the irate gentleman, "unless the company spends a few cents in advertising to notify the public of them. Perhaps if they would only take the newspapers into their confidence regarding their rules, in consideration of the fact that they are too poor to buy advertising, the public-spirited newspapers might give it to them gratis. But they stick up a sign somewhere behind closed doors in Paige street, and expect the public of Lowell to go down there and have a look at it." Having had his five cents

FORD OUT FOR WILSON

Roosevelt Raps Auto Man at Detroit—Ford Will Make Another Attempt at Peace

DETROIT, May 20.—Theodore Roosevelt and Henry Ford didn't meet here yesterday, although the colonel had announced that he intended to call on Mr. Ford at his factory, and Mr. Ford had said that he intended to hear Roosevelt speak at one of his meetings here yesterday. So, while the colonel was entertaining and being entertained, the automobile man stuck to his office.

Roosevelt received a tremendous reception in Mr. Ford's home town, and he didn't neglect the opportunity to discuss the showing of the peace pilgrim in the presidential primaries of three states. The colonel made three red-hot preparedness speeches here yesterday.

But while the colonel was pouring hot shot into Mr. Ford's advocacy of peace, Ford himself was not silent. He said that the armament and munitions crowd were behind the Detroit demonstration. He announced his intention to sail for Stockholm within a fortnight to help organize the neutral conference there and later at The Hague.

Mr. Ford announced himself as a strong admirer of President Wilson, and the impression has gone out that he will take an active part in the campaign for Wilson's re-election. This is interpreted to mean that the Wilson forces will have a sufficient war chest to conduct any kind of a campaign they desire.

"I am convinced that Wilson is on to this armament crowd," he said, "I thoroughly believe he knows more than he is telling. I think he has got them by the neck."

Called Ford Copperhead

Colonel Roosevelt compared Ford to the copperheads of Civil war times, and coined the expression "neo-copperheads," to designate the anti-preparedness advocates. He woke up Detroit with a report of his hottest speeches against the peace-at-any-price forces. At the Detroit athletic club, at the Opera House and a review in the park, where 5000 stood in the rain and cheered him for an hour, he lambasted the "pussy-foots" and the pacifists. By a coincidence, the big electric sign over the Opera House, advertising the moving picture within, read: "The Birth of a Nation."

Roosevelt sailed into Ford, after paying him a tribute as a manufacturing wizard and one meaning to do well by the working classes. He declared that Ford was no better at this time than were the Tories who opposed Washington in 1776, or the copperheads who obstructed Lincoln's work in the Civil war. He also issued a warning to the laboring people who admire Ford, telling them that Ford's policy might turn the country over to rulers who wouldn't be so concerned about the laboring classes. He cited Belgium as an example. He said there were manufacturers in Belgium who had held the Ford the other prior to Aug. 4, 1914, and that now neither they nor their men had anything to say about who should work or how they should work and that there wasn't much work for anyone.

At the Athletic club he quoted the eighth and ninth commandments. "Thou shalt not steal," he said, "was meant for the politicians, 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor,' was meant for the modern newspaper. He said the newspapers carried a great burden at this time and a great responsibility to the nation. That responsibility was to enlighten the people on the dangers that lurk in the peace at any price promoters."

Rejection of Rublee

Next week bids fair to bring New England into the foreground in national as well as local matters. The senate on Tuesday will vote on the Hollis motion to reconsider the rejection of George Rublee of New Hampshire as member of the federal grade commission. On Wednesday the senate committee on judiciary will vote on the contested nomination of Louis D. Brandeis of Boston for justice of the supreme court. These presidential nominations have stirred up more bitter feeling than has been shown here for years, and the outcome of both pending votes is entirely uncertain. On Tuesday the delegation from the Merrimack river valley cities interested in the appeal from the adverse decision on improvements of the Merrimack river will appear before the board of army engineers. The afternoon for the same day a delegation from Portland, Me., will appear before that board protesting against the adverse decision regarding improvements on Portland harbor. The Massachusetts delegation and the Maine delegation in congress will take an active hand in the hearings, and large delegations are expected from each of the two states interested.

Another White House Wedding

There will be another wedding in the White house set—a near family affair for Dr. Cary W. Grayson, the president's physician, and Miss Gordon, ward of Mrs. Wilson, are to marry next week. This leaves the president's daughter, Margaret, and his cousin, Miss Bones, the only unmarried members of the White House family, and will mark the fourth wedding in the family since the president took his office a trifle more than three years ago.

THEY RESCUED A ROBIN

BIRD WAS HANGING BY A LEG AT TOP OF A TALL TREE—MOTH CLIMBER SAVED IT

Officers of the humane society were called to the corner of South Whipple and Griffin streets yesterday at about noon to rescue a robin which was hanging by a leg from a string attached to the branches of a large elm tree. The bird was suspended in the air about 45 feet from the ground.

On account of the height of the tree, the officers were unable to make the ascent and they could obtain no ladders tall enough to reach the bird. Finally, however, a climber employed by the moth department was secured and he climbed the tree and rescued the robin which was afterwards set free. A large crowd of people witnessed the rescue.

DOINGS AT WASHINGTON

Spectacular Coast Guard Service and its Work—Rublee Fight—Another White House Wedding

Special to The Sun

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 20.—When you talk about a motion picture thriller, the Coast Guard service of the United States has it beaten to a frazzle to quote the colonel. Its summary of work done from Dec. 1 to March 31 on the New England coast alone would serve for the basis of a dozen scenarios. And yet the men in that service call the season a slow one for the storms were less intense and calls for aid fewer than usual.

Off shore on the coast of New England during that period the service saved the lives of 41 persons and assisted 225 others in imminent peril or distress, and some of those rescues were accomplished by great bravery and daring on the part of the coast guard such as we landlubbers little dream of—and if shown on a movie screen would be regarded as "made up" for the occasion rather than picturing from real life, so tremendous were the hazards taken.

Sixty-one vessels were assisted whose value, including cargo, was $356,095. The Coast Guard—now the life saving and revenue cutter services combined under that name—has a record for the saving of life and property unequalled by any other organization. Through snow, cold, ice, sleet, storm and darkness these men respond fearlessly to all calls for aid. In one year preceding their consolidation the life-saving branch had added in 1309 occasions of disaster on sea or coast. The vessels involved and their cargoes were valued at $13,616,815 and on board were 5990 persons, 30 of whom were lost in spite of the terrible conditions that made their rescue perilous to the life savers. In the ten years preceding the consolidation the revenue cutters aided 1514 vessels in distress, saved the lives of 659 persons from actual drowning and aided 2744 persons after ruling them. They saved cargoes valued at $33,641,66 and that was but part of their hazardous work.

President's Summer Home

While congress is deserted during the two political conventions it is the intention of the president to run down to Shadow Lawn, his newly selected summer home, and wait the result of the ballots. He has this week expressed the hope for a June adjournment but no one else seems to regard one possible before August, at the earliest.

Senatorial Deans Brummeles

Senator Thomas of Colorado has put one over on Senator Varquaman of Mississippi this year. It is nip and tuck between these two distinguished demerits who shall set the pace for summer. Senator Vardaman wears during the winter a suit of solemn black, including a long frock coat and typical big soft black hat. In summer he wears a white suit that is made especially conspicuous by his long black hair that falls in a slightly waving mass far below his collar. And they do say that Senator Vardaman sleeps with one eye open when springtime comes, for fear he won't be awake and ready to don that white suit with the next chirp of the robin. Senator Thomas is equally alert for the robins' first chirp, in order to shed his hair. In winter he appears to be a fine looking middle-aged man with a thick crop of iron grey hair, but the first day of real summer weather he shows up a fine-looking middle-aged man, bald as a baby, with a highly polished, hair-left cranium, glittering in the sunlight that falls through the soft-lit windows of the senate chamber. For those grey locks belong to the toupee that the Colorado senator don when autumn brings raw and chilly winds in its wake and when he puts away in moth balls his summer comes. And gossip says the rivalry between Mr. Vardaman and Mr. Thomas as to who is the real harlinger of

CARTRIDGE CO. NOTES

PLAN ADOPTED FOR THE PROPER TRAINING OF BOYS FOR EFFICIENCY IN BUSINESS

Supt. Gerald Cahill of the U. S. Cartridge Co. has announced that although a change from three to two shifts is being put in force in the various plants of the company, this is being arranged so that no employee will lose his or her employment or time, as the change will be made gradually.

The young men employed on the third shift are said to have objected to the schedule presented them, as they did not wish the girls of the shift laid off. This has been taken as a manly stand by the officials of the company, who have assured the male portion of the help that the girls will not lose their employment as a result of the change.

Must Attend Classes

All boys entering the employ of the U. S. Cartridge Co. as messengers and office boys will be obliged to devote, as a part of their work, thirty minutes a day in which to review their schooling.

The course of lessons is being decided upon, and plans are being made whereby the boys will be furnished books without cost.

The promotion of the boys to clerical positions will depend hereafter, upon efficiency in studies and upon their conduct and satisfactory service.

The recent rise in the water was a trifle higher than that during the spring freshet.

BUSY BUILDING SEASON

Great Activity Throughout the City—All the Building Trades Rushing at All Points

Scores of new buildings are being erected in this city and suburbs and this means that few craftsmen in the building line are out of employment. It is generally conceded that Lowell will experience this year one of the biggest building booms seen in this part of the country for a long time.

One of the districts to undergo a very big change within the next few months is Middlesex street from Central street to the railroad station. It is expected that within two or three weeks work on the ten-story cement and steel manufacturing building near the corner of King street will be started, and the erection of this building, it is believed will lead some of the property owners along the street to follow suit in tearing down old shacks and erecting in their stead modern office buildings.

Another step toward improving Middlesex street has been taken by the Crown Theatre Co., a recently organized corporation which has for president Samuel Orbach, one of the owners of the Orbach theatre, who will build a modern theatre at 73 Middlesex street. The building will be five stories, 44 ft. wide by 97 ft. deep and will cost approximately $25,000. The building will be known as the Crown building and its auditorium will contain 500 seats, while 300 other seats will be placed in the gallery. The roof will be of pitch style and will be covered with asphalt and concrete. Part of the roof will be movable and its operation will be controlled by machinery. The site of the new building is opposite Webster street.

C. W. Johnson & Son are developing a large tract of land in East Chelmsford just across the city line in Gorham street and they are building thereon several cottages. About a half-dozen new houses have been built so far and plans call for probably twice as many.

Arthur Jeannotte is contemplating the idea of erecting a three-tenement house on his vacant land next to 205 White street. Each tenement will contain five rooms and it is expected that work will be started next month.

Avila Sawyer has converted a stable into a seven-room cottage at 203 White street. The finishing touch is now being put on and the new house which is equipped with a steam heating system and electric lights will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks.

A three-story building is being erected at the corner of School and Liberty streets for Mrs. Josephine McKenna. The street floor will be occupied by a store, while the other floors will contain five-room tenements with pantry and bath. The building will be 27 feet by 53 feet and will cost about $4800.

Expensive alterations are being made at the coal elevator of Charles LaJole in Gorham street. The trestles in the coal yard will be replaced, the new ones to be 350 feet in length. Other improvements will also be made and it is figured that the entire job will cost about $5,000.

Louis Poissant is having a two-tenement house built at 136-138 Dalton street. Each tenement will contain six rooms with pantry and bath and the building will cost about $3200.

A seven-room cottage is being constructed at 165 Hoyt avenue for the E. A. Smith heirs at a cost of about $2800.

Charles P. Witham has started the erection of several bungalows in Putnam avenue and Hoyt avenue. Each bungalow will contain eight rooms with pantry and bath and will cost about $2500.

The barn of Joseph Kew in the rear of 35 Washington street is being converted into a cottage and the cost of the change will be about $500.

The Lowell Realty Co. has started the erection of a cottage at 130-132 Bellevue street. The house will contain six rooms with pantry and bath and will cost about $1500.

The cottage owned by Edward Fairburn and located at 517 Fletcher street is being transformed into a two-tenement house. The piazza will be roofed over for the purpose of a pantry and bath and the cost of the change will be about $800.

Work on the changing over of the stable of Francis Allard at 87 Sixth avenue into a six-room cottage has been started and the cost of the change will be about $700.

George C. and William Dempsey, who have leased the property numbered 272 Gorham street, are making considerable alterations to the building. The improvements will cost about $500.

The P. Dempsey Co., who have leased the property numbered 462 Middlesex street, have started making considerable improvements to the building. The alterations to cost about $550.

Manuel Martin Carrira is changing over a one and one-half story building into a two-story building at 55 Elm street, through the raising of the roof of an old and the building of an addition 10 by 15 feet. The estimated cost of the work is $100.

The old buildings on the land to be occupied by the Lowell Realty building at 100 White street will be torn down.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The members of Admiral Farragut camp, Sons of Veterans, met last night in Post 135, G.A.R. hall, Commander L. F. Munroe presiding. There was a large attendance and eight applications for membership were received and favorably passed upon. P.C. L. A. Derby, chairman of the Memorial committee of the camp and marshal of the morning parade, read the order for that occasion and it was accepted.

Commander Munroe read the orders for the escort to Post 135, May 28, to attend services at the Calvary Baptist church at 10:30 a. m. At 1:30 p. m. the camp will meet at Post 135 hall to escort the post to the First Congregational church where the general exercises will be held.

A unanimous vote of thanks was extended to Brother Benjamin F. Farshley for a gift of a mystery box. Great interest is being taken in the observance of Memorial day and a large turnout of the members is expected. Commander Munroe appointed the following members as a committee for the banquet: P.C. S. A. Pickering, James E. Webster, P.C. Wilson S. Hall, P.C. Waller E. Atwood, Charles F. J. J. P.C. Henry J. Draper and P.C. Albert C. Blaisdell.

Division 1, A.O.H.

A well attended meeting of Division 1, A.O.H., was held Thursday night in Hibernian hall. Several reports were read and accepted. One new member was initiated and two propositions were received. The quarterly report of Treasurer Sheedy showed that the financial condition of the division is very good. The call for the state convention from the state secretary was read and at the next meeting two delegates to attend the convention will be named. James Lyons, one of the oldest Hibernians in this city, told interesting stories of the past which were listened to with the utmost attention by the members. Remarks on the good and welfare were made by Brothers Riordan, Brick, Sheedy,

Casey and Sheehan. The meeting adjourned to meet on Sunday, May 28, at 10:30 a. m.

KAISER THANKED POPE

LONDON, May 20.—A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam quotes the Berlin Norddeutsche Zeitung as asserting that the statement of Sir Edward Grey in the house of commons that the vatican had endeavored to induce Germany to abandon her submarine warfare was not in conformity with the facts. The Norddeutsche Zeitung says: "We learn from a trustworthy source that the pope intimated to Germany and the United States his willingness to mediate in the dispute between them. The emperor thanked the pope for his good intentions and referred to the reply which Germany had already made America."

SILLY COLLEGE ANTICS

It may be true that our comic papers do not come up to the standards of those published abroad, but then we have the American college. It would be a tragic error to look upon our higher institutions of learning as comic institutions, but who can deny that they supply an original brand of comedy when the season is slack elsewhere?

Two instances that have come to light recently will serve to point the moral, if they do not adorn a tale: A zealous follower of Henry Ford among the students of Dartmouth came out in the college publication "Jack-o-Lantern" in rather caustic criticism of one of the faculty because of his preparedness views. The faculty promptly suspended the offending student, in spite of a manly apology. Some commentators think the action was justified in order that the immemorial dignity of college professors might be maintained, but most think the resentment of the authorities more foolish than the article that aroused it.

Still more humorous is an incident that brings Yale into the news. An elaborate production of the German opera "Die Walkure," has been planned to take place in the Yale bowl, with Madame Gaski in one of the leading roles. Walter F. Carter or "Dutch" Carter, formerly Yale pitcher, suddenly developed a patriotic brain storm and, remembering that Gaski's husband has been indicted as an alleged German spy, he sent the following protest to the Yale Daily News:

"I understand that Mme. Gaski is going to sing a German opera in the bowl. Her husband is under indictment as a German spy, and as a Yale man and especially as an American I want to protest against her engagement to sing at a Yale function.

"Yale is a national institution, but the recent utterances of Secretary Stokes and Professor Phelps and the engagement of Mme. Gaski made me sore.

"I don't suppose you will publish this because it is too direct, but I hope you will."

Yale, true to its reputation for sanity and common-sense did not heed the protest and the agitation is proving excellent advertising for Madame Gaski, who, true to her type, rather likes to be talked about. One of the undergraduates who has kept his sense of humor in spite of university routine has sent the following satirical protest to the Yale Daily News:

"Sir—I understand that Hook McGloob has been engaged to sup in a German opera. In the bowl. I have it on accurate information that McGloob's wife is under indictment for stealing three pairs of coonie running shoes from Yale in China while serving as a laundress. As a Yale man and especially as an American I want to protest against Hook's engagement to sup in a Yale function.

"Yale in China is of immense importance to this nation. Chink, but the recent utterances of Kilg, Fish and Leo, with 'I'm buyin' 'em' (a statement lacking in the fundamentals of English grammar and insultingly insinuating to the person addressed) together with the engagement of Hook make me sore.

"I don't suppose you will publish this because it is too direct, but I hope you will."

Yours till the panties come home, On Li Wun Lung.

It is to be hoped that Mr. Carter will read this burlesque comment and that he will then decide to see the great dramatic production which will not interfere in the slightest with his self-respect as an American.

The public looks to the greater colleges and universities for a sensible discussion of world events, and misguided zeal in any cause seems out of place there. Our schools have drawn and will continue to draw from all the races for their supply of students, and they should be broad enough to accept the best from any country while keeping absolutely American to the core. In spite of the action of the unbalanced few, we feel sure that the great majority of Dartmouth or Yale students could in one week hear Henry Ford, William Jennings Bryan, Theodore Roosevelt, John Masefield, Lord Northcliffe, Madame Gaski and Professor Munsterberg, and be all the better for it. Drawing the racial line in this country is a dangerous game, and the colleges should not forget it.

THE HIDDEN MEANING

Asserting that "some manufacturers have made a very good profit even with the present high price of dye-stuffs," one of the leading textile papers adds: "It is hardly fair to other manufacturers to keep prices at low points, although there is nothing which can be done unless each individual manufacturer is willing to base his quotations upon the market prices for raw materials."

This advice seems innocent enough until analyzed, and then the possibilities look sinister indeed, from the point of view of the public. Already most cotton and woolen products have soared in price, some of them to an extraordinary extent, but evidently some manufacturers would like to boost prices a little more. They fear that the excuse of the high price of raw materials has not been made the most of, and while some among them refuse to be led, prices will have to keep to a reasonable figure. The public cannot expect that manufactured articles will remain stationary when raw materials soar in price, but there is something about the above which does not ring true.

On the other hand there are some textile manufacturers who may have had a large supply of essentials in stock when the war broke out, and these are consequently able to sell at a lower figure than the majority. It is not likely that any of them will sell so low as to constitute a menace to the trade, but they should be content with a reasonable profit, and should not, as other industries have done, make the most of a public necessity. When the war is over we may discover that the Chicago packers and the wheat owners were not the only groups that saw in war's disorganization a chance to make the public dance to any tune they cared to play.

When people score the government for anti-trust and similar activities, it is well to remember what would happen if all manufacturers were swayed by a combination in which all should do just as those at the head dictate. Not the least of war's horrors is the greed which crops out among men who adore the dollar over all.

HIS MAJESTY THE BABY

This is meant to appeal to all who have or have had babies; to all who hope to have babies; to all who love babies. Is there anybody left out?

No feature of the health exhibit which has done such a great educational work in this city for the past few days was emphasized more than care of the child, and fittingly so, for care of the child is among the fundamental needs of society. Two of the watchwords of the age are efficiency and conservation, and unless applied to the very root of society, all other movements will ultimately fail. The state has nothing of more importance than its citizens, and the babies of tomorrow will be the citizens of tomorrow. Hence the interest which all social service, human welfare, and humanitarian movements are taking in the proper care and conservation of child life.

Each child born into the world has a right to life and happiness and it can have neither unless it has health. Yet in all of our large cities how many children are permitted to grow up without a proper regard for cleanliness, comfort, or sanitation?

Until they are able to make their wants known, babies should be watched as one would watch some marvelously delicate mechanism that is liable to fail at any time for lack of proper treatment. The most important considerations are absolute cleanliness, pure air, appropriate food and sleep. Hours of play and hours of sleep should be regular, and time of feeding and baths no less so. Eyes, ears, nose and mouth should be kept clean by constant attention, and fresh air is as important as nourishing food.

The milk guild in this city is doing a splendid work through its district nurses and dispensary consultations to educate mothers in the modifying of milk and other things necessary for the care of children. Similar things are being done in most cities and it is hoped that within the next five years infant mortality will be reduced one-half throughout the United States.

COMBINATION FOR TRADE

When one thinks or speaks of German foreign trade or English foreign trade, does it suggest a number of rival German or English concerns competing with each other? No. Rather does it give the impression of a national trade in which all concerned have the interest of their country to the forefront.

When one speaks of American foreign trade, it is entirely different. We have not yet got our extension of commerce down to such a science that we sink lesser considerations and act all together with a single purpose in mind. Until we learn to do away with abnormal rivalry and trust domination, we shall not have the success in foreign trade that is within our grasp.

A recent report of the federal trade commission which was appointed to co-operate with American business points out that American manufacturers must co-operate in exporting if they would successfully meet foreign manufacturers in foreign markets after the war. It is highly possible that commission houses may be established in connection with our exports, and that all who manufacture goods for outside markets will act as a unit for the expansion of American commerce. Healthy rivalry is essential, but the ideals of the nation must come first if a democracy is to meet a supreme state or monarchy on equal ground.

LIVING WITH BEAUTY

It was Walt Whitman who saw so much beauty and mystery in leaves of grass that they contained for him all the secrets of time and eternity. He and others of his persuasion learned to look deep into nature and to marvel at the wonders that no man has ever understood. Yet, how callously most of us pass through life, and how little do we care for the marvels displayed on all sides. Just now the skies are filled with the soft blues of spring and the filmy clouds trail by in silver argosies. Violets and tender anemones are abloom in the woods. Trees are garbed in soft green veiling, and over head and under foot beauty has written her name. And it is not only the eye that is gratified; spring life is vocal and the notes of many birds ring out from shady places. It is no time for musing in art galleries where dusty canvases shine out from golden frames. There is a witchery in every walk in the open that only those who look through the eyes of the soul, but it is a balm of Gilead for heart and head.

SEIZING THE MAILS

America's protest against the seizure of American mail by England is based on the following plain article of the Hague convention of 1907, which is accepted as international law: "The postal correspondence of neutrals or belligerents, whatever its official or private character may be, found on the high seas on board a neutral or enemy ship, is inviolable. If the ship is detained, the correspondence is forwarded by the captor with the least possible delay."

The sharp note which it is said the government is to send to England may bring some concessions, but there are doubts of it.

England, it is true, has made some valuable discoveries through opening the mails but that does not justify her action and it must be stopped as an open violation of international law. On this, as on the case of the packers, she will have to back down.

STILL THE BOXES

The Sun has been calling the attention of some central stores to their unsightly and dangerous practice of piling up boxes and packing cases on the sidewalks near their place of business. In some instances they have not yet learned to do better. This might be all right in the village variety store but it is surely out of place in the heart of a great city. Sooner or later there will be a serious accident to the children who come to cart them off, and then the municipal regulations will have to be enforced to the letter. From the commendation that has come to The Sun for its pointed suggestions we know that the police are keeping an eye on some establishments, and a few store proprietors may be shown that they are offending not only against civic standards but against the law as well.

SEEN AND HEARD

The big fat man with the loud mouth and greasy vest is a conspicuous figure at the free lunch counter.

William H. Gannett of Augusta, Me., is building a one-room bungalow in a large tree on his estate.

At the annual parish meeting of the Middle Street Baptist church in Portsmouth, N. H., Charles H. Clough was elected clerk of the parish for the 37th consecutive year.

The Evansville, Ind., telegraph office received a call a few nights ago from a well known family there to send a messenger boy to the home to attend to the three-year-old baby while the parents went to see a show. The call was filled.

Dr. Winslow Anderson and a party of nurses of St. Winifred's hospital in San Francisco put to sea 15 miles the other day to get 36 gallons of pure salt water to treat an ailment of a patient. The water was taken from a depth of 30 fathoms in 12 three-gallon leaded jugs.

White swans are swimming about the lake at the Dudley Tilley place, Danvers, Conn., after a voyage on the Norwegian, which arrived recently from Holland. The consignment was the first since the European war began. Special attendants came over in charge of the birds.

Merritt B. Holley of Traverse City, Mich., has a collection of every known flag of the world. He has 135 foreign flags, and for 31 years has corresponded with persons in 95 countries, although he has never left American soil. There are 38 flags in the collection which are significant in American history.

T. J. Mahoney and Sylvester Judd bought adjoining lots recently in Decatur, Ill. Judd erected a house. Mahoney visited his lot and was surprised to find a residence nearing completion. Investigation disclosed that surveyors had made a mistake in measuring off Judd's property and had staked off Mahoney's lot. The owners swapped lots.

Students of Valparaiso university, Valparaiso, Ind., used a novel method to advertise a ball game recently; some one wrote the announcement of the game on the sidewalk in English; a Japanese student rewrote it in Japanese, and he was followed by 13 other students, who each transcribed the original advertisement into a different language, until it was written in 20 tongues.

Cause of Collapse

The foreman employed by a big contractor rushed into the office of the boss wild-eyed and gasping. "Boss," said he, in a greatly agitated voice, "one of them new houses of ours fell down in the night!" "What's that?" exclaimed the boss, jumping right up and beginning to take notice. "What was the matter? How did it happen?" "It was the fault of the workmen boss," answered the foreman. "They

He Didn't Need Any

Handicapped but undaunted, the actors in the touring "drainer" were doing their best, but their efforts were spotted by the rude comments of a small boy at the back of the hall.

At last after some of his best "scenes" had been spoiled, the hero hissed melodramatically: "Ladies and gentlemen, five years ago I lost a monkey. Tonight it has turned up again at the back of the hall!" The applause and laughter which greeted this brilliant sally had hardly died away, when the voice of the insulter was heard to ask blandly: "What did you do with the organ?"

Mother's Way Best

Little Willie felt indisposed, and the family doctor ordered him to take a powder.

"Come on, dear," said mother, coaxingly, when the powder arrived, "take this; it will make you quite well at once."

"Don't want to!" wailed Willie, backing away from the teaspoon. "Don't want any medicine!"

"Oh, Willie," his mother said reproachfully, as she drew the small boy near to her, "you've never heard me complain about a little powder, have you?"

"No, and neither would I," was Willie's startling reply, "if I could just put it on my face as you do. But I have to swallow it!"

A Popular Jail

George Fitch, the Illinois humorist, had his own ideas about prison reform schemes. He expressed his attitude one day while discussing Thomas Mott Osborne's humanitarian efforts.

"Osborne's ideas may work out all right," said Fitch, "but whenever I hear of a warden holding surprise parties and rainbow teas in his penitentiary I think of what happened when Tim Culinan was chief of police in Junction City, Kan."

"Tim, in fact, was the whole police force. He had 11 prisoners on his hands, and was anxious to get rid of them, for they were a heavy responsibility. Tim having to keep watch over the actions of all Junction City."

"When you feed the critters," he said to the janitor one day, "just accidentally leave the door open and get out of sight for a while."

"But times were hard and picking up living outside wasn't so easy. Tim hadn't figured on that, but he did when he came back that evening and found the 11 prisoners still there and seven more who had slipped in while the jailer wasn't looking. Living was better and cheaper inside the jail than outside."

The Dog

I've never known a dog to wag his tail in glee he didn't feel. Nor quit his old-time friend to leg at some more influential heel. The yellowest cur I ever knew was to the boy who loved him, true.

I've never known a dog to show half-way devotion to his friend. To seek a kinder man to know. I've never known a friend to let the humblest dog I ever knew was to the man that loved him, true.

I've never known a dog to fake affection for a present gain. A false display of love to make. Some little favor to attain. I've never known a friend to let that seemed to be what he was not.

But I have known a dog to fight With all his strength to shield a friend. And whether wrong or whether right, To stick with him until the end. And I have known a dog to let The hand of him that men would kick.

And I have known a dog to bear Starvation pangs from day to day With him who had been glad to share His bread and meat along the way. No dog, however mean or rude, Is guilty of ingratitude.

The dog is listed with the dumb, He never speaks his mind by creed. His messages to humans come. By faithful conduct and by deed. He shows, as seldom mortals do, A high ideal of being true.

IMPURE MILK KILLS TWO

TWO DEAD AND 40 ILL IN WATERTOWN—COW WITH INVISIBLE GROWTH CAUSED TROUBLE

BOSTON, May 20.—Two Watertown residents, Mrs. Thomas Nally of Boyd street and Thomas F. Chambers, 33, of 63 Pearl street, are dead from drinking impure milk, and other Watertown people are seriously ill from the same cause.

The Watertown health officials say they have traced the trouble to one cow in the herd of a local milkman, who is not held in the least responsible. The cow was afflicted with a growth which was not visible to the milkman, but which affected the quality of the milk.

It was on Sunday that the milk trouble was first noticed, and prompt action was taken. The cow to which the impure milk was traced has not been milked since that day. It was taken to a bacteriological station yesterday and will be slaughtered and examined today.

Many of those made ill by the milk obtained it in milk shakes from a drug store in Watertown. It was there that Chambers got his fatal draft of the liquid, and his brother, Henry, who was with him at the time, was taken ill also, and is now in a serious condition.

In the second camp there will be four of the men—Barry Putnam, Charles Coburn, Frederick C. Church, Jr., and Alfred L. Warren.

In the fifth camp there is up to the present time but one Lowell enrollment, that of Eldred E. Bessie.

Murphy a Dissenter

Representative Dennis A. Murphy is a dissenter from the report of his ways and means committee on a bill to extend the pension system to certain persons employed in the prison service of the commonwealth who at present are not eligible to pension.

The bill provides that certain instructors employed principally in the Concord reformatory shall be eligible to retire on two-thirds pay, when they have completed 35 years in the service of the commonwealth. Those advocates of the bill intend that the legislature of several years ago, which passed the prison officers' pension bill, intended that these men should be included in the list, but it has been ruled that they were not.

Rep. Murphy, however, contends that the men are already being substantially well used by the commonwealth. They are obliged to work only five or six hours a day, and are allowed three weeks' vacation with full pay. In addition to this, their doctors' bills are usually paid by the legislature. If any of them happen to be injured, in view of these considerations, the Lowell legislator has announced that he will oppose this pension bill, as well as all others, until such time as the commonwealth establishes a pension system for ordinary laborers.

Acting Secretary Polk said the consul at Dublin would advise the state department as soon as Lynch's sentence was known. He added that the department yet remained without

DAYLIGHT SAVING

20,000 WOMEN ATTEND

All Clocks on the British R. R. Will Be Pushed Ahead One Hour

LONDON, May 20.—The hands on all clocks on British railroads, postoffices, newspaper offices, police stations and other places where business is conducted throughout the night will be pushed forward at 2 o'clock tomorrow morning to 3 o'clock in accordance with the daylight saving act. The general public will put their clocks and watches one hour ahead before going to bed tonight or will awake to find themselves late for breakfast. The new schedule will run until Sept. 30, when clocks will be stopped for an hour. Factories, banks, stores, theatres and restaurants will train to the new time schedule. There is a small old-fashioned section of the people who have derided the daylight saving scheme, but they will be practically forced into line by its acceptance in all public institutions. The only exception will be in the parks in the large cities which will be open an hour later to allow people the benefit of more fresh air. The hour of two on Sunday morning was selected for the change because fewer trains are running then than at any other time during the week.

CHRISTIANA, via London, May 20.—The legislature has passed the daylight saving bill, advancing the clocks one hour. The new regulation goes into effect on May 22.

DAY NURSERY BUILDING PURCHASED THROUGH BOUNTY OF F. F. AYER

VIEW OF THE BUILDING PURCHASED FOR THE DAY NURSERY.

The Lowell Day Nursery association held a special meeting yesterday afternoon to take action on the transfer of the property at 19 Paige street, the gift of Frederick Fanning Ayer to the association, and on the matter of the selling of the property in Kirk street by the city.

A committee composed of Dr. Moses G. Parker, James Gilbert Hill and Dr. F. Carroll was authorized to make the necessary transfers and the president was authorized to execute in its name and behalf a declaration that the gift by Mr. Ayer will be held in trust, for the benefit of the children of the city. The committee also was authorized to make the necessary transfers and the president was authorized to execute in its name and behalf a declaration that the gift by Mr. Ayer will be held in trust, for the benefit of the children of the city.

For over a quarter of a century the Lowell Day Nursery association has been caring every working-day for the children of hard working mothers. All children, regardless of race, creed, color or age, have been welcomed. So far as able the mothers contribute to the expense, but the small amounts received are not sufficient to support the home. Ten cents a day is the usual charge for a child.

Up to the first of May there were two nurseries, one located at 54 Kirk street and the other at 52 First street, each being in charge of a competent matron.

The day nurseries have been of great assistance to mothers with children who have to work and have no place to leave their little ones during the day. With their children in one of the nurseries they can rest assured that the little ones are not only safe, but well cared for. When the mother is going to work in the morning she brings her child or children to the nursery. Owing to the early hour the little ones are first bathed and put to bed for a short sleep. The children are then allowed to remain in bed up to a certain hour but those who are old enough to go to school are awakened and fed and prepared for school. Those who remain in the nursery during the day are provided with various forms of amusement suitable for children. An excellent corps of physicians, nurses and attendants are on duty during the day and the health of the children is carefully looked after.

When the city decided to sell the land in Kirk and Anne streets for the proposed high school the association was notified that it would have to vacate the premises at 64 Kirk street which it had occupied for a number of years. The next thing was to provide suitable quarters for the nursery and the committee which was appointed to look for a site which could be purchased at not too high a price.

One of the most active workers in the interest of the association is Dr. Moses G. Parker and he informed Frederick Fanning Ayer, Lowell's greatest benefactor, of the situation. It was but a short time later that Dr. Parker received a communication from Mr. Ayer to purchase if possible, the site at 19 Paige street, which had been selected by the committee. Although the amount of the check which Mr. Ayer has sent or is going to send has not been made public it is known that it is sufficient to purchase the property as well as make the necessary alterations in order to convert it into a place suitable for the nursery.

The present occupants have a lease on the building which does not expire until June 1st and in the event of the former desiring to remain in the building until the lease expires, the association will not be able to start work until that time, but efforts are being made to have the present tenant vacate the premises, generous offers having been made for that purpose. The proposed new nursery is a three-story brick structure, modern in every particular and is excellently located, being but a couple of hundred yards from the site of the old home. On May 1st the association vacated the premises at 64 Kirk street, everything being transferred to the nursery at 19 Paige street. Mrs. Amanda J. Nelson is in charge of the nursery and an average of 50 children are cared for there every day.

Mr. Ayer's Benefactions
This is not by any means the first time that Mr. Ayer's generosity has been shown to the association for on several former occasions he has made gifts of considerable amounts, the largest being in January, 1910, when he made a gift of $25,000 to the association. Of that amount $25,000 was paid off the indebtedness of the association after the purchase of the property in Kirk street. In all Mr. Ayer has given about $70,000.

The officers of the association are as follows: Moses G. Parker, Pres.; Dr. Charles J. Williams, Clerk; Mrs. Samuel T. Brown, Paul Butler, Daniel F. Carroll, Mrs. J. L. Chaffron, Mrs. Wm. P. Lawler, Mrs. Lewis D. MacBrayne, Philip S. Marden, Mrs. Mary E. Plunkett, Mrs. N. W. Peabody, Mrs. Arthur D. Prince, Miss N. P. H. Robbins, Mrs. Julian Talbot, Mrs. Mary Gracey Morrison.
Mr. Ayer's generosity in endowing several Lowell institutions has cleared them of debt and placed them on a strong financial basis. His gifts have been especially beneficial to the Lowell general hospital in which Mr. Ayer takes a great interest. His gifts to the hospital amounted in all to about $394,236.17. For the past ten or eleven years, he has made annual gifts of $5000 for the benefit of the tuberculosis camp in connection with the hospital.
Indeed if it had not been for the generosity of Mr. Ayer it is doubtful if the Lowell Textile school would enjoy the high distinction it does at the present time. In all Mr. Ayer has made gifts of $165,000 to the school.
The Ayer home in Pawlucket street exists through Mr. Ayer's generosity. The O'Leary home in 1910 received a gift of $1800 from Mr. Ayer and many other institutions have also been recipients of large donations from Mr. Ayer.

the Lowell Day Nursery association about $70,000.

INCOME TAX RETURNS

APPROXIMATELY $120,000,000 FOR THE COMING FISCAL YEAR—HIGHER THAN ESTIMATED

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Returns from the income tax for the coming fiscal year are estimated at approximately $120,000,000 in revised figures being compiled by the treasury department. The exact amount within a few thousand dollars probably will be known within the next few days. The expected return of $120,000,000 is $35,000,000 or over 40 per cent. more than officials estimated when congress convened. Individuals are expected to pay approximately $62,500,000 and corporations $57,500,000. The $120,000,000 estimate includes omissions for previous years due to mistake or attempts to evade payment.
